County Committees Have Power To Disqualify Office Seekers Who Bolt Leaders, Says Maddox.

ASSERTS LOYALTY IS COMPULSORY

State Leader Makes Clear His Position on Rules in Question Among Chatham County Group.

Savannah, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—It is within the power of a county democratic committee to declare the nomination of a candidate forfeited "if any nominee takes a position inconsistent with the requirements to qualify himself as a candidate in the party," Ed Maddox, state democratic executive committee chairman, declared he believed, in a letter to David S. Atkinson, chairman of the Chatham county democratic committee, made public by the latter today.

Mr. Maddox letter was in reply to a request from Mr. Atkinson for an interpretation of Rules 2 and 5, controlling candidates in democratic primaries. Mr. Atkinson on receipt of the letter declared the Chatham county committee would follow "the literal rules of the party."

Mr. Maddox in his letter said:

"As I construe the rules, especially in the light of the custom for many years, there is a wide difference between Rule 2 as to qualifications of the voters in the primary, and Rule 5 as to the qualifications of a candidate running in the primary. I agree very thoroughly with your committee in its position that no person is qualified to become a candidate in the primary election of September 12, unless he bona fide declares that he is a valid member and adherent of the democratic party in both state and national politics. The rule is plain. The custom of the party in the past, especially in state affairs, has been that every candidate must be qualified in accordance with this rule."

"Whether or not a person nominated at the former primary will be entitled to be named as a democratic candidate in the general election and be listed on the democratic ticket, if he now repudiates the national democratic ticket, raises a situation which, so far as I am informed, has never before arisen in this state and which was not contemplated or covered by the rules adopted by the state committee. Rule 5 provides that no person shall be deemed a candidate in the primary unless he is a valid member and adherent of the democratic party in both state and national politics. The primary at which the nominees for county officers were named is passed and the nominees no doubt declared."

"The question therefore resolves itself into a question as to the right of the committee to declare that nomination forfeited."

Power of Committee.

"In view of the fact that a man cannot participate in the primary unless he is an adherent of the party of both state and national politics, it is thus asking for the honors of the party and a position of leadership in the party, it is contemplated that he should remain a democrat; and it seems to me that if any nominee takes

HEAT WAVE KILLS 12 IN MIDWEST

Entire Section Swelters Under Searing Sun; Corn Crop Reported Far Ahead of Development.

Chicago, August 9.—(AP)—Twelve were reported dead in the Chicago district tonight as the result of excessive heat. The thermometer stood at 90 degrees at 5 p. m. The sun seared tired residents who had been unable to sleep because of the sultry air during the previous night.

Continued warm was the forecast for Friday, although some hope was seen in a forecast of showers by nightfall.

Soldiers of the Illinois National guard in training at Camp Grant suffered at their drills. Fifty were prostrated yesterday, they were reported to recuperating, the temperature there was 92 degrees.

Reports from Nebraska told of temperatures about three degrees higher than yesterday when the highest was 94 at 3 p. m. O'Neill, Neb., reported 102 degrees.

The corn crop is about two weeks ahead of its normal development due to heat.

TWO ARE INJURED BY TRAIN CRASH IN OHIO STORM

Alliance, Ohio, August 10.—(AP)—The fireman and engineer on Pennsylvania passenger train No. 815, en route from Youngstown to Alliance, were injured slightly and more than a score of passengers were shaken up when three coaches and the locomotive were derailed by a washout near Sebring, four miles from here, late tonight.

THREE SLAYERS PAY FOR CRIMES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Ossining, N. Y., August 9.—(AP)—Three men were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tonight. They were Daniel Graham, a New York policeman who robbed and killed a paymaster he was assigned to guard; George Appel, who shot a police lieutenant who tried to arrest him; and Alexander Kalinowski, a convict at Auburn prison, who stabbed a keeper to death in an argument over prison ratings.

G. O. P. Candidate for Lieut. Governor Declares Massachusetts Wants None of "Witty" Solon.

Springfield, Mass., August 9.—(AP)—Charles L. Burrill, of Boston, candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor, in a letter to Herbert Hoover made public here tonight asks the latter to dismiss Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, as head of his presidential campaign in the east. He declares that the "presence of Senator Moses in your campaign is an affront to the voters of Massachusetts."

Among the charges against Senator Moses are that "three times from his headquarters in New York he has prophesied the loss of a republican senator from Massachusetts;" that he "has sought to appoint as nominee his personal and social favorite who never won political office in his life;" and that he "is hostile to the Volstead act."

"May I respectfully urge," the letter concludes, "that Senator Moses be invited to confine his activities to the state of New Hampshire where his idiosyncrasies are enjoyed where understood. His curious aberrations, the source of many witless and smothering room, do not appeal to the sober citizens of Massachusetts."

FINANCIER ATTEMPTS TO RESIGN BUT IS GIVEN INDEFINITE LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM OFFICE.

Capitalist Says He Will Devote Entire Time to Campaign Activities; Leader in Wet Group.

New York, August 9.—(AP)—Pierre S. DuPont, who is expected to indicate publicly his support of the presidential candidacy of Governor Smith, was granted leave of absence as chairman of the board of General Motors corporation today when he attempted to resign to avoid embarrassing the corporation through his opposition to the prohibition amendment.

The resignation was not accepted and it was not indicated whether the leave of absence would end at the close of the presidential campaign when John J. Raskob, who resigned almost three weeks ago as chairman of the finance committee after he was appointed chairman of the democratic national committee, is expected to resume his duties.

A formal statement issued by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the corporation, after a meeting of the board of directors this afternoon, said DuPont submitted his resignation because he felt his activities in connection with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, with which he and Raskob have been closely identified since its foundation, might give

SMITH IS EN ROUTE TO BRENNAN RITES

Nominee Will Attend Funeral of Illinois Democratic Leader at Chicago Today.

Albany, N. Y., August 9.—(AP)—For the first time since his nomination at Houston, Governor Smith was headed tonight toward the middle west, but not on a political mission.

As the friend of George E. Brennan, and not as the democratic presidential nominee or the governor of New York, he set out for Chicago to attend the funeral tomorrow of the party's leader in Illinois. He planned to remain in Chicago only three hours, and to be back in Albany early Saturday.

To make the trip and pay personal tribute to his dead political associate, the governor was forced to abandon work on his acceptance speech and to drop pressing state and campaign business.

It was the second time since becoming the democratic standard bearer that he had started out on such a pilgrimage. Five weeks ago he went to rural Maryland to attend the funeral of a son of his friend, John J. Raskob, who later became chairman of the democratic national committee and director of his presidential campaign.

As on that occasion, Mr. Smith had arranged to make his journey to and from Chicago aboard the "St. Nicholas," the private car of William F. Kenay, of New York, which will be Given Pardon, Man Is Facing New Charges

Prisoner Freed in Georgia in Order to Permit Immediate Trial in Ohio.

Charles Gillespie, 23, charged with failure to pay for eight gallons of gasoline and convicted, Thursday received a pardon from Governor L. G. Hardman.

But the pardon brought little happiness to the prisoner, for tonight he starts back to Ohio to face trial there on the charge of theft of $8,000 worth of merchandise from one of Cleveland's biggest department stores. The prisoner will be in charge of Detective R. E. Spaulding, of Cleveland.

Gillespie drove into a filling station at Cordale on the afternoon of August 1, and left without paying for the gas he ordered, it is stated. Authorities phoned the police at Vienna, which is nine miles from Cordale, to stop the car, bearing an Ohio license when it attempted to pass through that town.

WIFE OF BANKER IN GOTHAM HANGS SELF IN BEDROOM

New York, August 9.—The police tonight reported that Mrs. Helen Marshall, wife of Minian Marshall, a vice president of the National City bank, committed suicide today by hanging in a bedroom of the Marshall's nine-room apartment on Riverside drive. Mr. Marshall found the body suspended by an electric iron cord from a door in the bedroom. All health, it was said, caused the act.

TWO KILLED, FIVE INJURED AS PLANE FALLS ON ROCKS

Giant Amphibian, Carrying Summer Resorters, Crashes in Canada; Pilot Is Among Victims.

Gravenhurst, Ontario, August 9.—(AP)—Captain Charles Haines, pilot, of Miami, Fla., and Robert Erving, 18, of Pittsburgh, Pa., a passenger, were killed and five other passengers were injured in the crash of a Loening amphibian plane today. The aircraft fell 500 feet to the rocks near Beausair. The injured, who are in Caledon sanitarium here, are: Wallace Phillips, of Pittsburgh, said to be seriously hurt internally; Miss Lucy Hill, of Boston, Mass., left arm broken; James Reed, Pittsburgh; Miss Molly Spaulding, Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Betty McKay, Pittsburgh. The last three are said to have suffered minor injuries.

Erving was dead when taken out of the wreckage. Captain Haines died soon after being admitted to the hospital.

The passengers were cottagers and summer resorters from the vicinity of Beausair. The big aircraft, which is operated for sightseeing around the lakes by the International Airways, Limited, had just taken off from Lake Muskoka when it fell, landing on huge boulders and crumpling like matchwood. Rescuers were quickly on hand and the victims were removed in motorboats to the sanitarium.

BATAVIA VOLCANO KILLS THOUSAND

Hundreds Are Injured by Series of Violent Eruptions in Dutch East Indies.

Batavia, Dutch East Indies, August 9.—(United News).—One thousand persons were killed and hundreds injured in successive volcanic eruptions on Mount Rokotinda on the island of Teloeuw beginning Saturday, according to reports received here today.

First reports of the disaster were received Sunday, but it was not until today that more complete information giving details of the destruction were received.

Remotely Placed.

Due to the fact, however, that the island is some 1,100 miles from here and is remotely placed between the islands of Sumatra and Ombay, full details of the havoc are still lacking.

The island is mainly a volcanic one, consisting of some 6,000 inhabitants. When the eruptions began Saturday night, the sea arose in a great wall, five feet high on all sides, and the frightened people fled toward the wall in the hopes of escaping the volcano, but many of them actually ran to their death.

According to reports reaching here many of those injured were struck by falling stones thrown out by the eruption while some of the deaths were due to burning, the first following the eruptions as masses of debris poured down upon the 32 little villages, mostly made up of fishermen and farmers.

Other Islands Hit.

The official Dutch resident commissioner of the district is now visiting the island on a tour to determine the extent of the damages. Placewch being principally composed of natives, although a Catholic missionary had his headquarters on the lonely island.

The casualties and damages were principally on the southwestern part of the island.

Effects of the catastrophe were felt in other islands in the vicinity. Nine ships were sunk at Celebes island to the north, and a giant sea swept the coast of the island of Flores, some 20 miles south of Paloeuw.

KELLY IS DOOMED BY NEW EVIDENCE, DETECTIVES SAY

Los Angeles, August 9.—(AP)—Detectives assembling evidence in the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Melius late today cleared their case against Leo P. Kelly 29-year-old admirer of the society woman, who is charged with her killing last Sunday, had been charged "clearing up everything," according to a company official, close to Toombs.

Mr. Toombs expects to receive the report of the insurance examiners tomorrow, said the official. "At that time, after he has had opportunity to analyze the situation, he will make a public statement."

'Poor Mother' Scribbles Dying Officer of F-14

Rome, August 9.—(United News).—"Poor mother, be strong as mothers of—"

Obviously overcome by deadly chlorine gas in the iron prison of the bulk of the Italian submarine F-14, and lacking further strength to continue, Commander Wiel, of the vessel, left this last message for his mother.

Commander Wiel was one of the 27 men who went to the bottom of the Adriatic never to return alive when his ship collided with a destroyer during maneuvers.

The last message received from the stricken ship as she lay on the bottom with her stern stuck in the mud was typed out in Morse code by the radioman who stuck to his post to the last. It simply read, "Please rush help, we are dying."

A rough log of the commander's which was taken from his pocket today in Pola harbor base where the ship was towed after being raised, told the last tale of the little group in the agonizing death that they met under the waves before help could reach them.

Four of the men were drowned by the inrush of sea water as the ship sank. The others suffocated in the poisonous gas given off when the sulphuric acid spilling from the batteries as the ship tilted over on her side.

All Italy had been deeply moved by the disaster and mourning for the dead is general throughout the country.

DRAMATIC SIGNALS ARE EXCHANGED.

Pola, Italy, August 9.—(AP)—The dramatic messages exchanged between the men imprisoned in the submarine F-14 and the rescuers were made public today. Both by the submarine telegraph and in notes they showed that death overtook the imprisoned men while they were still trying to communicate their last thoughts.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR TOOMBS FIRM

Stockholders Move Against Insurance Company Reported Short $3,500,000 in Bonds.

St. Louis, August 9.—(AP)—Receiver was asked today for the International Life Insurance company, by two stockholders who in their petition also demanded from Roy C. Toombs, of Chicago, president, an accounting for $3,500,000 in securities, which insurance examiners said were missing from the firm.

The petition also contained a request for an injunction to prevent the insurance of its policies in the Missouri State Life Insurance company, which has been proposed.

Filed by Founder.

The petition, filed by Massey Wilson, founder of the International Life and C. Long, of Tunpele, Miss., charges Toombs with illegally disposing of 12,000 shares of the International Life to the Missouri State in a plan to transfer the business and assets of the International Life to the other company for one-third their value.

An injunction is also asked in the petition to prevent the stockholders meeting of the International Life, set for Monday when it was planned to transfer the business and assets of the International Life to the other company for one-third their value.

An accounting is demanded from Toombs and the court is asked to order the restoration of the missing assets which are being sought by eight insurance commissioners from various states who have been conducting an investigation into the conditions of the company.

The Post Dispatch said today that it learned from an authoritative source that insurance examiners were given a statement by Toombs in which he said he could not return $3,500,000 in "missing securities."

The same authority stated, the newspaper said, that in reality Toombs did not remove any securities from the company assets, but borrowed money in progressive loans, which were said to have amounted to $2,900,000 by the time Toombs had been in control of the International Life three months.

TOOMBS PROMISES STATEMENT TODAY.

Chicago, August 9.—(AP)—Roy C. Toombs, president of the International Life Insurance company, in which securities of $3,500,000 are alleged to be missing, will issue a statement tomorrow "clearing up everything," according to a company official, close to Toombs.

Mr. Toombs expects to receive the report of the insurance examiners tomorrow, said the official. "At that time, after he has had opportunity to analyze the situation, he will make a public statement."

Blonde Hair Strands Found In Death Quiz

Chain of Circumstantial Evidence Growing in Beitzel Case.

Los Angeles, August 9.—(United News).—Four long strands of blonde hair from the head of the girl he refused to wed may be woven into the noose that will hang Russell St. Clair Beitzel, police announced today.

Almost hourly the case of circumstantial evidence grew stronger against the former Philadelphia man, accused of murdering Miss Barbara Mauger shortly before she was to have borne him a child, according to investigation of the police.

The strands of hair were obtained from a bundle of clothing which Beitzel was said to have mailed to a fake address in Phoenix, Ariz.

He and the girl had lived together here after motoring from the east.

The strands of hair came from a soiled kitchen apron Miss Mauger had worn about their little home here, from her nightgown and from a blue coat.

Ref. Welch, police chemist, made a superficial examination of the hairs and declared he was satisfied they came from the head of Barbara Mauger.

Various chemical tests with both the hair and the clothes will be made in efforts of police to identify positively the garments and to establish the fact that the girl was murdered. Identification of the body at the coroner's inquest was termed unsatisfactory.

Beitzel will be arraigned Friday on a grand jury indictment.

New Storm Warning Issued by U. S. Bureau

Washington, August 9.—(AP)—The weather bureau tonight issued the following advisory storm warning:

Tropical disturbance of considerable intensity attended by gales central tonight probably about latitude 10, longitude 71, moving west-northwest at rate of about 18 miles per hour. Vessel captains are urged to send special observations of unusual conditions attending this disturbance for the benefit of shipping and inhabitants of the West Indies.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., August 9.—(AP)—Floods rising rapidly in the wake of the West Indian hurricane that for two days lashed central Florida, tonight constituted a new menace to many sections where the howling winds were accompanied and followed by torrential rains.

Taylor's creek, which runs through Jacksonville, ordinarily a jettyed branch about 15 feet wide and still was spreading out over territory contiguous to its banks. The creek still was rising rapidly and had cut off more than 500 people by flooding highways.

A number of stores and residences in Jacksonville City have been flooded, but all business was normal, including telephone and light service, although the power house was flooded to a depth of three feet.

The first relief expedition into the stricken territory north of West Palm Beach set out late today, after L. C. Hull, prominent orchardist residing near Jupiter, brought a report of a dozen or more families in that vicinity homeless and badly in need of food.

Hull also brought unconfirmed reports of four fatalities near Jupiter, but said because of the wreckage left by the storm and rapidly rising streams he was unable to confirm them.

HEARINGS ENDED ON TEXTILE STRIKE

New Bedford, Mass., August 9.—(AP)—The state board of conciliation and arbitration today concluded public hearings in connection with its investigation of the textile strike here. A report placing the blame for the strike and its continuance will be rendered by the board at a later date.

It was apparent that whatever may be the outcome of the investigation at the present, the manufacturers and strikers were still far apart in their differences. A 10 per cent wage reduction was the immediate cause of the strike which involves 28,000 operatives.

Additional statistics were added to the already large amount gathered by the board when the manufacturers presented figures to refute financial statements made by the strike representatives yesterday. These figures, instead of picturing the mills as in a healthy condition indicated that many were on the verge of liquidation. The strikers had contended that the financial condition of the mills did not warrant the wage reduction.

The "labor union" plan, a heretofore settlement possibility, was repudiated by William E. G. Batty, of the textile council. The plan, which would increase labor and decrease wages to the end that no actual reduction in the workers' weekly wage total would result, was termed impractical by Batty.

Good Roads Body Opens Drive In Support of Holiday Bill

A nation-wide campaign in support of the Holiday bill under which the government would build a five-billion dollar system of transcontinental highways has been started by the United States Good Roads association, according to the announcement made by J. A. Rountree, director general of the association, who is in Atlanta in the interest of this campaign, consulting with good roads leaders, public spirited citizens, and others interested in the support of this great measure.

The importance of the support of the Holiday bill and the campaign that is now being inaugurated can be measured by the personnel of the association. The United States Good Roads association has on its board of directors former Governor W. W. Brandon, of Alabama, as president; Governor Ben S. Paden, of Kansas; Governor Hamill, of Iowa; Governor Richards, of South Carolina, vice president; 35 governors who are state vice presidents; 40 former governors; United States senators, congressmen, are members of the advisory board, and 100 directors, two from each state in the union, composed of leading business men, who are interested in the development of a great road system throughout the nation. It has a membership in every state in the union composed of leading men and women in every walk of life.

Bill Now Pending. The Holiday bill is now pending in congress; it outlines a system of highways. Atlanta will be greatly benefited, as three of these great transcontinental highways will pass through this city, which, when built, according to specifications, would cost more than 20 million dollars, Mr. Rountree said.

J. A. ROUNTREE.

These highways from Atlanta, under the outline of the Holiday bill, would be at least 60 feet wide for 10 miles from the loop and 40-foot pavements for 15 miles further. The provisions for a minimum width, and the bill provides explicitly that wider highways can be constructed to meet the needs of each center of population. In Georgia alone the expenditure for highways provided in the Holiday bill will total more than 25 million dollars, because the great houses were under way and the largest amount for road building.

The bill authorizes the secretary of the treasury, with the president's approval, to levy and collect a small annual motor vehicle tax to aid in retiring the necessary bonds for building of this system of highways.

Tax Not Less Than $3.

This annual tax is to be not less than $3 for each private motor vehicle and not less than $10 for each motor vehicle used for hire.

The bill also authorizes the secretary of the treasury to impose and collect a tax of not less than one-half cent per gallon on motor vehicle fuel to aid in retiring the bonds. All other federal taxes on motor vehicles will be repealed.

It has been estimated for the association that the saving in repairs, oil, gasoline and depreciation by driving over the higher-type roads will mean at least four cents per mile.

Engineers have estimated that the better roads will effect a saving of one cent per mile on tires alone. If that is correct this one item will total more than the annual tax each year.

Passage of the Holiday bill, Mr. Rountree predicted, will mark the beginning of a new era in automobile traffic.

Investigated Measure.

Director General Rountree stated that before the United States Good Roads association introduced the Holiday bill it appointed a committee consisting of leading financiers, together with several senators, congressmen and governors, who went thoroughly into the details of the measure and reported to the association that the measure was feasible and should be passed.

At a later date meetings will be held in Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, New Orleans, Savannah, Ga., Raleigh, N. C., Dallas, Texas, Jacksonville, Fla., and many other southern cities, as well as western and eastern cities, explaining this measure and urging the support of the various city bodies, automobile clubs and business men to urge congress to enact this measure.

Director General Rountree will be in the city for several days and is stopping at the Ansley hotel. He is the executive officer of the Bankhead National highway, and will discuss, while here, the holding of a conference in regard to a meeting of the association in this city at an early date.

PRODUCTION GAIN TO 1,300 CARS DAILY PLANNED BY BUICK

Flint, Mich., August 9.—(Special).—E. T. Stroug, president of the Buick Motor company, today confirmed a report that Buick was making emergency preparations to increase its production for beyond its highest previous peak. Night shifts will be inaugurated in the Buick factory here, Mr. Stroug said, to reach a production of 1,300 cars per day by August 15.

This figure, exceeding anything in Buick history, is necessary to meet the demand arising since the introduction of the new Buick line July 28. Mr. Stroug said the factory's emergency plans were virtually complete and that the required production would be attained with existing facilities and the factory's present man power.

A. M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK IS PROGRESSING

Lexington, Ga., August 9.—(Special).—The Sunday school convention of the Washington district of the A. M. E. church, holding daily sessions in Russell chapel A. M. E. church, this city, is making headway in the business work of the body, due to the efforts of Dr. W. J. Jones, presiding elder of the district and president of the body.

Because of the absence of Dr. J. E. Roberts, pastor of Greensboro, on account of sickness, the annual sermon was preached by Rev. J. L. Shropshire, of Washington, Ga. Many visitors addressed the convention here today.

Much time was given to the hearing of reports on the condition of the Sunday schools and charges as affects the moral, religious activity of the work of the youth in rural life, by the pastors, superintendents and delegates of the convention. It also developed through the reports that much neglect and irregularities pointed out by the committee and placing the drifting of young people to careless superintendents and workers.

Parents, said Dr. Jones, are not blindfolded for the lack of reports, day school and church, losing religious grasp on the youth in community centers, but that the children are allowed to go their way on the Sabbath day without care of self, or the kind of companions selected as their associates they inculcate habits through their channel from which it is hard for them to be extricated.

Revs. H. E. Evans, J. H. Kimbro, J. B. English, C. J. Simmons and A. A. Harden made committee reports today on the S. O. S. call, Sunday school periodicals and Sunday school amusements.

PLEAS DELAYED BY 'BUTCHER BOY'

Los Angeles, August 9.—(AP)—Leo Kelly, alleged slayer of Mrs. Myrtle Melius, 43-year-old society woman, was arraigned today on an indictment charging murder and ordered returned to court Monday when a motion for release on $50,000 bail will be heard.

While the "butcher boy" admirer of Mrs. Melius was in court, controversy arose in the police department over bloody finger left their imprint on tiling of the bathroom in the Winthire home of the prominent Melius family.

Sergeant H. L. Barlow, police expert, says Kelly's fingers did not make the print. When all persons so far questioned in the case, including Frank Melius, wealthy manufacturer and husband of Mrs. Melius, were finger printed, the impressions were taken into the grand jury room for comparison and no announcement of the result was forthcoming.

Herman Cline, chief of detectives, said he believed the print on the bathroom tile was "old," left there, probably long ago, by a man named Kelly. He added that Kelly best Mrs. Melius to death but that investigation of every angle of the case would be continued.

FLOODS MENACING STORM-SWEPT AREA

out across the Gulf of Mexico today with decreasing intensity, another tropical disturbance was reported by the Weather Bureau at San Diego and shipping was warned in the vicinity of Jamaica and south of Haiti.

From throughout the storm swept area tonight paralyzed communications were restored came reports of heavy damage, particularly to citrus groves, highways and utilities. Many houses were under way and telephone poles were leveled over an area 200 miles wide along the east coast and stretching across the peninsula to the Gulf of Mexico on the west.

East Coast Hit.

A survey tonight showed the storm wreaked its fury on the territory along the east coast, centering near Jupiter, 18 miles north of West Palm Beach, where Hull reported at least 10 families near his estate homeless and in need of food. Many refugees, he said, had been driven from their homes, wading water waist deep, and were being cared for.

Hull made his way over the hazardous route to bring the news of the distressed families. At one place he said he crossed a bridge that water was flowing across to a depth of a foot and that the country was a veritable sea of mud.

At another place he said the water was so deep that the road was impassable and that the country was a veritable sea of mud. Hull reported that the main warehouse on his estate had been made into a swimming pool, the area, with food and aid dispatched from there by boat to families cut off by rising streams.

River Beyond Banks.

Loxahatchee river, Hull said, was swollen far beyond its banks and was coursing over the countryside in a stream two miles wide, flooding citrus groves and scattered homes and isolating the small communities.

Hull placed his own losses to his citrus groves and fern farm at $100,000. A story of the rescue of a farmer, his wife and four children from their inundated home was told by Hull, who said he drove to Jupiter for a boat, then took the family to safety. A few hours later the woman gave birth to a boy and today both mother and baby were well and happy.

A survey of the west coast area by newspapermen from St. Petersburg revealed the greatest damage to citrus groves was in the area of the river, where the water, blown from trees, telephone, telegraph and light companies, and to highways.

Towns Regain Wires.

With the rehabilitation of communications several smaller towns, previously reported badly damaged or swept away sent out word of comparative little damage. In Fort Kenansville, which reported that it had been flooded during the height of the storm.

In the Okeechobee area, the Kissimmee river was rising slowly as was Lake Okeechobee, while canals through which the water empties into the Gulf and Atlantic ocean were reported back full and slowly rising.

Damage so far in the Okeechobee area is less than it was in the hurricane of 1926, but with the streams steadily rising and the crests not expected before Saturday or Sunday, it was feared losses from the flood would be greater.

RAPIDLY RISING CREEK
PERILS OKEECHOBEE.

Okeechobee, Fla., August 9.—(AP)—Taylor's creek has risen 12 inches since 4 p. m. It was still rising early today. It was more than a mile wide. Road workers on state road 29 coming in tonight reported that the grade was badly washed out and that they had to go in to several places where the road had been.

All business, including telephones and the light system, was normal with the water three feet deep in the new house. Many homes were flooded from the overflowed creek in east Okeechobee.

More than 500 people were cut off from Okeechobee City by the creek. They are isolated from Fort Pierce and all other places by flooded highways and washouts. No previous high water mark equals the present flood of the creek.

Kenansville Safe.

The town of Kenansville, northeast of here, which was reported yesterday as having been destroyed by the storm which struck there Tuesday night, was not badly affected by the storm. A party arriving here from that place today reported.

There was no material damage at Kenansville, it was said, but the town was flooded.

City Is Cut Off.

This town on the northern banks of Lake Okeechobee was practically cut off from all except telegraphic contact with the outside world today when every highway leading out was submerged by rising waters from the lake, Taylor's creek and the Kissimmee river.

Highways were washed out on all roads, including the Connors highway which last night linked Okeechobee with the east coast, and today water was lapping at its tracks on the Florida East Coast railway.

Taylor's creek runs through Okeechobee City. Ordinarily it is a stream of not more than 15 feet wide, but tonight it had left its banks and traveled a quarter of a mile in each direction, rising water from the lake, continues to rise at the rate of nine inches an hour. Several downtown business places and a number of residences are already flooded from the waters of the creek.

River Continues Rise.

The Kissimmee river continues to rise slowly as the result of the 20 inches of rain which fell during the storm. The peak of its rise is not expected before Saturday or Sunday, and when that time arrives additional damage is expected here and in the outlying country.

Lake Okeechobee also is rising slowly, and the numerous canals which form its outlets to both the Gulf and Atlantic coasts are reported full.

Damage here so far is less than it was in the hurricane of 1926, but havoc from the Taylor's creek and Kissimmee river floods is expected to surpass even the disaster of two years ago.

CITRUS GROVES BADLY DAMAGED.

St. Petersburg, Fla., August 9.—(AP)—Whipping across Florida's west coast from Lutz to Ocala, winds of hurricane velocity accompanied by heavy and constant rainfall late last night today played havoc with the telephone wires, highways and citrus groves of five counties, according to two reporters for the St. Petersburg Times who tonight completed a 12-hour survey of a 200-mile area.

There has been no casualties reported at a late hour tonight.

There was no estimate at damage beside the general belief that it would total thousands of dollars.

Citrus groves suffered heavily. In many places the terrific wind from the sea broke up and uprooted trees while in other instances green fruit and leaves had been stripped from the limbs.

Giants Trees Down.

Giant trees and broken telephone poles lay across state and county highways, slowing up all traffic and in some cases totally denaturing the road. One road near Tampa and Dunellon was under water in two places and road side ditches were gradually being flooded.

At one place the road was impassable and a watchman was directing motorists to a detour. Heavy rains were continuing and the damage to the road was expected.

Telephone and telegraph wires were scattered over the highway and countryside. Linemen were at work this afternoon in an effort to repair the ruptured service.

The storm broke suddenly upon Lake Jovita early last night, felling trees and scattering roadside signs. Several houses, it was understood, were slightly damaged.

At 10 o'clock it descended with a fury upon Dade City, seat of Pasco county and five miles from Lake Jovita. The little city was plunged into darkness and the mad hurricane swept through business and residential districts, breaking trees, knocking down roofs, and felling a parked automobile on an hour.

The storm raged until after midnight.

Residents awoke this morning to find the streets covered with debris and light and telephone wires stretched dangerously about the streets and sidewalks.

Huge Shed Collapsed.

At Romeo a huge shed collapsed on several automobiles causing considerable damage. Two old houses in the same vicinity were apparently on the verge of collapse at noon when a strong wind was still blowing.

Near Brooksville, a big tree blocked the highway halting traffic for an hour. It was removed by the driver of the Tampa, Brooksville mail truck, who was forced to return to Tampa for an ax with which to clear his way over the road.

Dunellon and Ocala were not hard hit, despite early reports that they had borne the brunt of the storm. A few uprooted trees and scattered signs was the extent of damage there.

Residents along the highway who watched the capers of the hurricane declared it to be one of the "quickest ever witnessed." One man said the wind changed frequently, blowing to the northeast at one moment and in an opposite direction the next.

Reporters had a hazardous and difficult journey. Leaving St. Petersburg shortly after midnight they entered the storm area during a stiff blow. Once the car crashed over a felled tree which blocked the road and at another time a heavy limb struck the windshield. Several times it was necessary to leave the highway and drive through a field in order to reach their destination.

MISSING GUARD BOAT IS FOUND AT ANCHOR.

Miami, Fla., August 9.—(AP)—Coast guard patrol boat No. 188 with a crew of eight men aboard, which has been missing off Fort Pierce since the storm of Tuesday, was located at 7:30 a. m. today by the steamship Berkshire, anchored 14 miles northeast of Cape Canaveral, according to word received.

THE WEST POINT ROUTE

this afternoon at coast guard base No. 6, Fort Lauderdale.

Commander Jordan, of coast guard base at Fort Lauderdale, dispatched two boats, CG-297 and CG-294, at 4 p. m. to the aid of the disabled craft and to take her in tow to the home base at Fernandina, Fla.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED RED CROSS IS TOLD.

West Palm Beach, Fla., August 9.—(AP)—First reports of fatalities in the Florida hurricane were delivered today to the local Red Cross chapter by E. H. Hull, prominent fruit grower west of Jupiter, who said he had heard that four persons were killed in that area.

The destruction wrought by the storm and the ensuing floods made it impossible for him to verify the reports, Hull said, adding that his information was very meager.

An account of widespread damage wrought by the hurricane and ensuing floods caused by torrential rains which isolated many small communities in the region, rendered a number of residents homeless, and inundated orange groves to a depth of from two to four feet was given the Red Cross by Hull.

At least ten families in the vicinity of his orchards were in distress, the planter reported, and badly in need of food; while refugees, some of whom had walked for miles through water sometimes up to their armpits, had begun to arrive at his estate, where they were being cared for.

18 Miles from Lake.

Jupiter is approximately 18 miles north of here on the east coast and about 25 miles east of Lake Okeechobee. The country lying between that point and the lake is mostly rich, low lying land and sparsely populated. The northern lake Okeechobee region from Okeechobee across to Fort Pierce earlier had been reported overrun with rains were continuing and the damage to the road was expected.

Hull made his way from his estate five miles west of Jupiter, on the Loxahatchee river, over a flooded highway and a bridge that was a few feet of water when he passed, to seek Red Cross relief for that section.

A flood expedition set out immediately carrying food and roofing for the sufferers, but Hull was uncertain whether it would be able to negotiate the flooded highway.

Expectations were that the main warehouse at the planter's 150-acre grove would be made headquarters for the relief expedition which intended to dispatch help from there by boat to the flooded communities farther to the west.

Hull told Red Cross officials that so far as that sector was concerned, Tuesday's hurricane was much more costly than that experienced a few years ago. Estimating damage to his two large farms at $100,000, he said his losses to groves alone would reach between $25,000 and $50,000. He tween 8,000 and 10,000 boxes of citrus fruits were blown from his own trees, with damage to grapefruit, apples and other fruit trees of one row or more being badly damaged or completely wrecked, a brick garage collapsed to bury a number of automobiles under the wreckage, a portion of the city power plant was badly damaged and a large hotel was unroofed, as was a three-story furniture store building.

Orchards Hard Hit.

In that town of hardly two thousand inhabitants, a score or more of homes were badly damaged or completely wrecked, a brick garage collapsed to bury a number of automobiles under the wreckage, a portion of the city power plant was badly damaged and a large hotel was unroofed, as was a three-story furniture store building.

Orchards Hard Hit.

In that vicinity, orchards were dealt costly blows; in some places a half dozen or more fruit trees of one row were twisted from the ground and in many instances trees were stripped practically bare of their unmarketable fruit.

St. Cloud, at first reported to have been one of the worst sufferers, actually was only moderately damaged, but Winter Haven, slightly to the west, was said in fragmentary reports received here to have given up a more extensive toll.

Lack of telephone and telegraph service to that city, however, prevented a definite check today.

North of here, Sanford, Orange City and Lake Wales escaped with but little damage to buildings, although trees and shrubbery were broken and uprooted, signs blown down and plate glass windows smashed. Fruit crops in that district also were reported to have been severely hurt, with many acres of young trees said to have been stripped of their foliage.

It generally was agreed here that by far the greatest toll exacted by the hurricane was its damage to orchards, but opinions differed widely as to what that amounted to.

A. W. Hanley, acting manager of the new Clearing House association, was among the first to make an announcement of his estimates today, where he said that he believed from 15 to 25 per cent of the grapefruit crop of the central part of the state and 5 to 10 per cent of the orange crop had been destroyed.

Wire Service Hampered.

Telephone and telephone service remained somewhat crippled, however, despite the efforts of crews which worked incessantly today in the drenching downpour to which the whole of central Florida was subjected.

And it was the rain which offered a possible new menace for the southern portion of the area, where streams have been swollen by the almost constant fall of yesterday and today, according to reports reaching here, Lake Okeechobee, especially, was said to be straining its banks and residents along its shores expressed the belief that further heavy rain would cause an overflow.

Meanwhile, more complete reports reaching here seemed fairly well to establish that Kissimmee, near here, was relatively the hardest hit in that portion of the central peninsula over which the storm swept west-northwesterly.

Holder Praises Record Of State in Building System of Highways

Progress in Road Construction Greater Than That of State's New Enterprises, He Says.

Tallahassee, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—"Georgia has made greater progress in road building than she has in the building of new enterprises. She has made greater progress in road building than she has in the development of her schools; made greater progress in road construction than has been the progress of her churches; greater progress than has been the progress of agriculture."

highway commission chairman, has Georgia had appreciable funds for her road building.

"That year the amount of gas tax was $1,112,032.40; in 1923, $1,404,129.16; in 1924, $2,228,574.44; in 1925, $4,837,857.35. In 1928 it will be about $5,100,000.00," the chairman continued. "Thus it will be seen that only during the past two years has the state highway board had an appreciable amount of funds for constructing the great state aid system."

Yet during the past few years, Mr. Holder said he thought that the development of electric power was one of the few improvements to keep pace with the pace of road building.

Not All Paved Roads. "The waters of our country are being harnessed; lines are being extended to cities, villages, towns and hamlets; and great and wonderful work is being done in furnishing electrical power to the different communities of Georgia, but this development has been no greater than in furnishing the people of this state highways on which to travel. Not all of our highways are paved and not all should be paved," Mr. Holder added. He cited the words of Honorable Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, to prove the latter point. "The basic principle of highway improvement is that all roads should be improved to the maximum degree the traffic will justify, but no road should be improved to an extent in excess of its earning capacity."

Chairman Holder envisioned a great paved highway as the ultimate result of the link which Habersham celebrated today. The highway would extend, he held, from the North Carolina line to the Alabama line at West Point, with the completion of projects in between the Habersham county line and New Holland the Baldwin-Hall counties line link, and Gwinnett county's stretch between Lawrenceville and Buford. The paved highway between Atlanta and West Point has already been completed, he pointed out.

"Already there has been completed the great coastal highway from Savannah to the St. Mary's river, which is the dividing line between Georgia and Florida. The last link of the U. S. route No. 1 from Augusta to Florida, a distance of 236 miles, is now rapidly being constructed. It is 48 miles in length and the contractor says he will be able to put down at least three miles each week. If this is done then this great highway will be completed by Christmas Eve day."

Reviews Work. Georgia, the chairman said, now has a paved highway from Marietta to seven miles south of Cordele, a distance of 187 miles.

"The project between this end of this paving and the paving in Fift county is now under construction and is being rapidly completed. When this is done there will be a paved road from Atlanta to the Florida line. Continuing the highway from Marietta to the Tennessee line and the work will be carried on as rapidly as possible. So, you see, Georgia has paved or under construction four great highways stretching from state border to state border."

Mr. Holder reviewed the accomplishments of his department in building or placing under construction 29,393 miles of permanent bridges, under the state aid system. Under that system also he reported the grading of 4,000 miles of road, of surfacing with top soil 3,915.03 miles, of surfacing with gravel, chert and macadam 758.09 miles. The department, he said, has paved 1,594 miles of road at a cost of $29,841,558.00.

"Georgia is keeping pace with the federal government. Twenty-five per cent of the highways on the federal aid system of the United States are paved. Georgia has paved or under construction at least 25 per cent of the highways on the state aid system. Georgia's state aid funds have been increasing rapidly each year while the amount of federal aid remains the same.

"The federal government feels that $75,000,000 each year is as much as can be economically spent in the construction of highways. As above stated, while this amount is stable Georgia's state aid funds have been increasing rapidly each year while the amount of federal aid remains the same.

Points to Costs.

"A more rapid progress in paving may be demanded by the people. If so, then if the amount of revenue from gas tax that comes into the treasury is put upon the highways, amounting in round numbers to a million dollars, and one cent gallon charge on gasoline is levied for a period of five years it will enable the state highway board to carry on its work with greater rapidity than ever before."

Mr. Holder said the highway board is using every effort to render to the people of Georgia not only efficient but faithful service at the lowest possible cost. He claimed that whereas the law of the state provides that 6 per cent of the total revenue handled each year may be spent on road building, the report of the state auditor showed that overhead expenses are 2.79 per cent.

The hearts of the board members are in this work. In the construction of these highways in Rabun and Habersham counties, the state highway board has had splendid cooperation from the ordinaries of both these counties. It has had the splendid help of the people of these counties. In the building of this road that extends from the capital of this state to the Tennessee line, the most efficient of the state, the Hon. Bob Hamby, the chairman tributed.

In the hearts of the three men composing the highway board there is no ambition for honor, Mr. Holder said, "but their great ambition is for rendering this state the most efficient service of which they are capable."

"No effort will be spared to accomplish this end. If bitterness and strife and personal hatreds are set aside and all come together for the good of Georgia, then we can write her name in letters of burnished gold across the eternal skies."

HARDMAN DEFENDS THOMPSON ACTION

Declaring that Senator E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, is making "frantic attacks and charges" against Governor L. G. Hardman in an effort to "attract attention to himself," the Hardman campaign headquarters Thursday issued a statement in which it set out that Mr. Rivers is attempting to appeal to the lawless element in assaulting Mr. Hardman for failure to interfere in the case of Thompson.

The governor issued a stay of execution and asked authorities to investigate the alleged confession. They reported there was no truth in it, and it was then that the governor declined to interfere further with the order of the court, the statement sets out.

Hardman's Statement.

"In his desperate effort to attract attention and to give some impetus to his campaign, Candidate Rivers is making frantic attacks and charges against Governor Hardman. As an illustration of his extreme measures, we refer to his discussion of the governor's refusal to interfere in the case of Clifford Thompson.

"With no intention to defend Governor Hardman, as he needs no defense, but only in the interest of the public, and in order that the people may understand the real facts, we are making this statement.

"Thompson was legally tried, duly convicted and his wife stoutly maintained her innocence and disclaimed her knowledge of the crime until a few hours before Thompson was to pay the extreme penalty. Just the day prior to execution she gave a statement to the press reaffirming all she had said previously thereto. About midnight Mrs. Thompson signed an affidavit in which she admitted her connection with the crime and entirely absolved Thompson from blame. It was noticeable that in her statement she declined to name the real culprit in the murder.

Stay Ordered.

"When her statement was brought to the governor's attention, he at once issued a stay of execution until he could get in touch with the proper authorities to have her statement checked and to secure the ideas of the public officials in the county of the trial. The solicitor general and other officials chargeable with the enforcement of the law in the county, the state, and in the matter of her confession thoroughly and promptly reported to the governor that it was without truth or foundation. With this information, and in view of his oath of office, the governor felt impelled to allow the execution to proceed, and he submits to the people of Georgia as to whether or not he should have acted upon the uncorroborated statement of a confessed accomplice, the wife of the defendant, who had made many previous contradictory statements, or whether or not he should have acted upon advice and recommendation of the sworn officers of the law who were chargeable under their oaths with the duty of upholding the dignity of the law.

"While Governor Hardman has ever shown a readiness to give careful and sympathetic consideration to all pleas for clemency, he is mindful of the fact that he has an oath to observe and the majesty of the law to uphold, and although his duties sometimes are extremely painful, he has shown himself a man of conviction and courage sufficient to do his sworn duty in the face of sentiment and sympathy. If Candidate Rivers gets any comfort out of a distortion of facts in this case and his appeal to the lawless impulses of irresponsible sentimentalists, he is welcome to it. It is the law and the public weal on the one side and the interests of the criminal and irresponsible on the other.

"There has been a general sentiment in Georgia to uphold the verdicts of juries and to refuse to overturn the solemn judgments of the courts because of the appeals of interested parties, and Governor Hardman is ready and willing to meet the issues as to whether or not the people will uphold a governor who stands four-square for the integrity of the law and the upholding of the judgments of the courts. If the people of Georgia desire a man of this type, they will find him in Governor Hardman. If not, they must look elsewhere for a governor. We and Governor Hardman, however, have an abiding faith in the righteous judgment of the people of Georgia."

CANDLER ENJOINED FROM CANCELLING STOCKYARD LEASE

A permanent injunction restraining the Atlanta Stockyard company and Asa G. Candler, Jr., from cancelling a lease to the Smythe Brothers, live stock dealers, was issued Thursday in superior court by Judge E. E. Fomero.

The company claims it holds a 5-year lease with three years yet to run. The petition asked that the Stockyard company be enjoined from evicting the firm or ordering switching service discontinued.

The company was notified in May by Mr. Candler that after 90 days the stockyards would be abandoned in their present capacity, the petition charged.

Reasons for Vetoing Viaduct Paving Work Explained by Mayor

Following his veto Wednesday of the $20,000 additional appropriation in connection with the paving of the Central avenue viaduct, Mayor Ragsdale Thursday made public a letter to Walter F. Schultz, consulting engineer, in which he insists that the original terms of the contract which were approved by Mr. Schultz at the time, be carried out.

The full text of the mayor's letter is as follows:
"Dear Mr. Schultz:
I am indeed sorry that I cannot approve some recommendations you have recently made, adding additional cost to the paving of Central avenue; that was before the viaduct committee, approved by them, and later adopted by council, and approved by the aldermanic board, but not unanimously.

"The original specifications that were made by you must have been considered good, or you would not have recommended the concrete paving at that time, and I am of the opinion, after talking with Mr. Hansell and Mr. Kaul, that the original specifications are all that is necessary to make the street what it should be. "City council has approved the plans and specifications originally submitted by yourself for a certain sum of money. You are obliged to know that we will have no funds to add additional cost and make changes in the original plans; but that we will be compelled to economize in every way possible to carry out the original contract awarded to MacDougall Construction company.

"It appears to me that the changes suggested from time to time do not come with very good grace, as the matter was in your hands; and your plans and specifications, as before stated, were adopted, on suggestion of yourself that they are amply sufficient for modern viaducts.

"I shall insist that we carry out the original contract as we have no money to be making additional changes from time to time, but will need every dollar we have, in order to complete the viaduct and rearrange the buildings for the property owners as we should do. "I will thank you to let me know at once why the original plans that you have submitted, and a contract made accordingly, are not what they should be.

The Georgia Power company has practically completed their work, and the paving of Central avenue has been held off and the work delayed in that section, on the idea that this additional $20,000 would be spent on this street.

As before stated, I have disapproved the paper, and I do not believe that council will override my veto and the work is being held off, unnecessarily, by the MacDougall Construction company, to the serious hurt of the business in the section where the viaducts are being constructed.

Yours very respectfully,
"I. N. RAGSDALE, Mayor."

One Thin Woman Gained 20 Pounds In Three Months

The chief cause of underweight, lowered vitality and strength is improper assimilation of your food. Your food doesn't get into the blood and give you the necessary nourishment.

First correct this condition—then lovely shapely curves and enchanting roundness, perfect health with an abundance of vitality will soon be yours.

McCoy's Tablets are highly recommended by science to put on pounds of firm, healthy flesh—to create energy and vigor in a surprisingly short time.

Miss Catherine Friel, of Florida, writes: "I started taking McCoy's Tablets 3 months ago when I only weighed 100 pounds—Now I weigh 120—My chest was so hollow and is filled out now."

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this bonded guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar box a year, you are not a woman or man doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price. The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Jacobs' drug stores or any drug store in America.—(adv.)

COMEDIAN DIES, SHOW GOES ON

Shelby, N. C., August 9.—(AP)—The show must go on no matter what may intervene, and the partners of E. W. Wilson, Bristol, Tenn., business man, vaudeville actor and show owner, today continued their engagement here despite his death, yesterday as a result of an automobile accident near Gaffney, S. C.

Wilson failed to answer his call for the matinee of a road show here yesterday afternoon. He had left Greenville, S. C., the last stand on Tuesday afternoon in his automobile which he also used as advance car. He was due to play a comedy part in yesterday's bill.

Another actor stepped into Wilson's role. Soon his partner, Jay Mason, joint owner, with Wilson, of the show, was called to Gaffney. He identified the body of a man found unconscious beside an overturned automobile on Tuesday evening as that of Wilson.

Mason said that Wilson owned several cigar stores in Bristol where his mother, Mrs. Margaret S. Wilson, lives. He also is survived by a young daughter.

The body was sent from Gaffney to Bristol today.

DRENNON URGES ISSUE OF BONDS TO AID LIBRARY

Councilman Raleigh Drennon, who is chairman of the library committee of city council, paid an official visit Thursday to Mayor Ragsdale's office in an effort to advance his plans for bond issue for increasing library facilities.

Two sketches, drawn by G. Lloyd Preacher without cost to the city, were submitted to the board of trustees of Carnegie library at a meeting held Wednesday and were approved by that body. Mr. Drennon told the mayor.

One sketch provided for an addition of one story and an extension in the rear of the present building. The other was for a standard branch Carnegie library at an estimated cost of $30,000. Additional space is needed for a stock room, reading rooms and ample space for the librarians, according to Miss Tommie Dora Barker, head librarian. Mr. Drennon told the mayor that the addition to the present building would take care of the needed space.

POLICE SEEK MAN WHO SLEW FIANCEE

Bluefield, W. Va., August 9.—(AP) Ransom Brown, of Bear Wallow, Va., was being sought by Tazewell county officers today in connection with the killing of his fiancée, Betty Dunford, 20.

The killing occurred in the Dunford home, in an isolated section, late Tuesday, and authorities did not learn of it until today.

According to officers Brown met Ott Brewster at the Dunford home and threatened to kill him. The girl, they said, implored Brown to kill her instead, and he fired a bullet into her neck. Her blind father, John Dunford, was in the room at the time.

Brown escaped. A warrant charging murder was issued against him.

$21,000 Reward Awaits Long-Lost Defender of Hobo

Los Angeles, August 9.—(AP)—A reward of more than $20,000 awaits the youngster who fought a midnight battle on top of a speeding freight train 15 years ago to save a friend's hard-earned "stake." His whereabouts now are unknown.

The superior court here yesterday ordered withdrawal of funds from the estate of Edward A. Lancaster to carry on a search for Richard "Dick" O'Neil that the terms of Lancaster's will might be carried out.

Lancaster was the man whose money, earned in the wheat fields was sought by a holdup man. O'Neil was the youth whose two-fisted defense saved the "stake," though he lost his own money.

Lancaster, who died recently, bequeathed his entire estate of $21,000 in cash to O'Neil and ordered that a five-year search be made for the youth.

PAROLE APPROVED FOR EX-RUM CHIEF

William V. Dwyer, former New York rum syndicate chief, will be freed under parole from the Atlanta federal penitentiary within a few days, it became known Thursday when advices were received from Washington announcing that Dwyer's parole petition had been approved by Attorney General Sargent.

Dwyer's parole was approved on the recommendation of the prison physician, who reported that the New Yorker was "very ill." It was said Dwyer recently paid a $10,000 fine.

The prisoner in the penitentiary hospital, it was learned. Convicted in New York in July, 1926, as the chief of a rum syndicate which authorities said had brought millions of dollars' worth of liquor into the United States annually, Dwyer was sentenced to two years, and has served one year, six months and 22 days. Dwyer's syndicate was said to have been the "backbone of Rum Row," maintaining a fleet of 18 ocean steamers and having general headquarters on Lexington avenue, in the heart of New York city.

E. C. Cochran, Dwyer's "pay off man," was found guilty with his chief of a similar term. Sixty-one members of the coast guard, were indicted in connection with the syndicate's activities, but 25 of the indictments were withdrawn later. Six men who were tried with Dwyer were acquitted.

No advices relative to the approval of the parole had been received at the prison Thursday. It is expected that the parole papers will arrive from Washington in the next few days.

'Tiger's' Mother Contesting Deed To Avoid Eviction

A man cannot sign a deed eight months after his death, it was argued in a petition Thursday to enjoin the Realty Finance company from evicting the mother of the late Tiger Flowers, negro prize fighter, from her $60,000 residence on Simpson street on the strength of a deed bearing the signature of "Theodore Flowers, estate."

Judge E. E. Pomeroy, in superior court, issued a temporary restraining order as petitioned, setting the hearing date for September 8.

On his death last November, Flowers willed his residence, at 938 Simpson street, to his mother, Lula Flowers. He had bought the residence with 60 notes of $1,000 each, most of which are outstanding.

TERRELL COUNTY GINS FIRST BALES OF 1928 COTTON

Dawson, Ga., August 9.—Terrell county's first bale of new cotton, weighing 380 pounds, was ginned today by the Dawson Cotton Oil company's ginner for W. G. Laine, prominent farmer of the Herod community. It was sold for Mr. Laine by J. D. Weaver of the Alliance warehouse to the Geo. J. Watson company and the price paid was 25 1/2 cents per pound.

Mr. Laine states that he has quite a large acreage of cotton, and that but for a rain yesterday afternoon which halted picking he would have had a standard size bale. Cotton is opening rapidly in many sections of the county and other bales are expected this week.

66 MEN SEEKING 50 SENATE SEATS

Of the 50 senatorial seats in the Georgia legislature, 25 are uncontested, 16 have raised dual races and only three have as many as three contenders, it was revealed in a tabulation Thursday of the candidates who will be placed in the upper house in the primary of September 12.

It is therefore indicated that but 66 men are aggregately seeking the 50 seats available.

Run-off elections are possible in the fifteenth, eighteenth and thirty-first districts. In each of these divisions there are three candidates for the single seat.

A preliminary line-up for the senate race in the September primary is as follows: First named being county leader.

First District—Bryan, Chatham and Eschschm: Shelby Myrick, Savannah.

Second District—McIntosh, Liberty, Long: Tassell: William S. Tyson and John D. Clark of Darien.

ANTI-SMITH GROUP MEETS IN MACON

Macon, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—Anti-Smith democrats of Georgia—more than 300 of them—assembled here in session today and perfected a statewide organization for the avowed purpose of defeating Governor Al Smith at the polls this November by voting "temporarily republican."

Representatives from the 12 congressional districts drafted resolutions for the foundation of a dual "party" to be carried into every county of the state. Officers of a nominating committee were elected for the appointment of a central committee of seven club members to govern the new club.

One hundred and fifty-one members signed up.

Bishop James O. Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south; Dr. A. J. Barton, Baptist educational leader, and other churchmen of the two foremost denominations of the south addressed the gathering.

The first session was adjourned at 8 o'clock to meet again at 8:30 for "inspirational" talks under the leadership of Dr. C. O. Jones, superintendent of the Georgia Anti-Smuth League.

Professor Leon P. Smith, of Macon, and Mrs. L. C. Warren, of Griffin, were named as temporary chairman and secretary respectively. Some confusion was manifested at first over the nomination of the Rev. H. Forrester and Mrs. Williams as members of the national committee, to be officers.

Not Bolters, Contention.

The new club was "in no sense bolters," it was emphasized. In presenting a resolution relative to the organization of the club, Rev. C. M. Leebetter was abruptly halted. "I didn't say 'bolters,'" he explained, "but voters." The club finally decided to change the wording to read "anti-Smith democrats."

The Rev. Forrester, Mrs. Williams and R. C. Norman were named on the nomination committee to appoint the central committee. Later, upon petition of the Rev. Forrester, the name of Lonnie D. Newton, editor of the Christian Index, official Baptist organ of Georgia, was substituted for his own.

The 12 elected were: Mrs. B. L. Miller, O. C. Andrews, J. H. Jenkins, F. E. Edwards, Hopner Alexander, Rev. C. F. Allen, J. J. Allan, R. C. Donovan, Mrs. Emma Chatten, R. E. Elliott, Dan T. Cowart and C. S. Shepherd. The delegates represented the congressional districts in the order named.

At the conclusion of a rally of each district, in which success for Hoover in varying degrees was predicted, Bishop Cannon was introduced.

The bishop said he had always stood for "moral uplift."

He commented upon the "justification," of using his office in politics. He read from several episcopal addresses, signed by "every bishop of the southern conference," he said, in which it was set forth that they should support men in favor of prohibition and vote against "nullifiers."

"And the governor of New York," he said, "has demonstrated in his record of eight years that he is a would-be nullifier of the law."

"I am here then," the bishop said, "as chairman of the board whose business is prohibition and temperance. We are in the proposition only when in the position of Methodists, action is demanded."

Methodist ministers, he said, were not to be muzzled.

"This talk of political parsons," the bishop said, "why, John Wesley was a political parson. And we will not be muzzled now by the threats of that wet, Roman Catholic Knight of Columbus."

Kellogg Keeps Hands Off China And Japan Row

Washington, August 9.—(United News)—The Japanese quarrel with China over Manchuria is considered too delicate by Secretary of State Kellogg for him to discuss publicly, he made known today following press dispatches from Tokyo saying the nationalist government had been warned by Japan against permitting the Manchurian government to join the regime at Nanking.

The Japanese government also warned the nationalist regime according to Tokyo reports which have not yet been confirmed, that "suitable measures" would be taken by Japan unless the attitude of the nationalists towards Japan's "special rights" in China were modified.

Questioned as to whether he considered this action by Japan a violation of the administrative integrity of China as guaranteed by the United States, Japan and other powers under the nine-power Washington treaty, Kellogg said, it would be "unwise for me to pass upon this point in full at the present time."

DRAGON'S TO GIVE STUDENTS BANQUET

TOBACCO MARKET CONTINUES STEADY

Valdosta, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—Approximately 475,000 pounds of tobacco were sold on the floors of Valdosta's five warehouses today at an average price of 16 cents, according to estimates of market officials. Better grade leaf was in evidence today, indicating farmers are beginning to reach the market.

Metter, Ga., August 9.—Tobacco sold here today estimated 240,000 pounds. Better grades 20 to 34c. Large lots at good advances. More strength felt.

Quitman, Ga., August 9.—Thursday's offerings at the Brooks County Tobacco warehouse included 170,682 pounds of bright leaf tobacco, which brought an average of 14.02 cents, the high price being 30 cents.

Moultrie, Ga., August 9.—Tobacco sales yesterday totaled 240,788 pounds for an average price of 12.05 cents, warehousemen said today. Sales for the season total 1,258,840 pounds. Today's offerings were estimated at 285,000.

Thomasville, Ga., August 9.—(Special).—A survey of the floor Thursday indicated total sales around 100,000 pounds at average of about 13 cents. Much tobacco gave evidence of being graded downward by damp weather, but there was not much of the cull variety on the floor.

3 YOUNG PEOPLE'S CAMPS AUTHORIZED BY SALVATION ARMY

Three camps for Salvation Army young people's organizations in the southern territory have been authorized this month by territorial headquarters here, it was announced Thursday by Colonel Alfred A. Chandler, chief secretary.

Major J. A. Fynn will open a camp at New Orleans today to continue until Saturday of next week for Louisiana and east Texas youngsters; Major Joel Chamberlain will open a camp next Friday near Richmond, Va., for Virginia youngsters, through courtesy of the Boy Scouts, who have given the Salvation Army the use of Camp Showandaussee; Major W. E. Hickman will open a camp near Columbia, S. C., August 17 to 24 for South Carolina boys.

The Salvation Army officers training college for the southern territory will open September 12, it also was announced by Colonel Chandler. The garrison will occupy the brick building on Luckie street, formerly used as the Argonne hotel for working men. The training course of 19 months required before commissioning as a full-time officer is open to young men and women over 18 years old in the 15 southern states who want to devote their lives to evangelistic and relief work in the Salvation Army. Relief tests as to character, ability and seriousness of purpose are required for entrance.

"Jack Wilson," Held In Texas Jail, Proves To Be Georgia Convict

D. N. LaVelle, held in the Austin, Texas, state prison and who recently asserted that he is Jack Wilson, a man wanted in Atlanta for murder, is really an escaped Georgia convict but his name is J. C. McConnell and he escaped recently from the Hart county chain gang, it was announced Thursday at the state prison commission. The commission Thursday said Warden E. S. Reynolds, of the Hart county prison, to Texas to bring the prisoner back. LaVelle, alias McConnell, was held in Texas on a charge of passing a worthless check.

Jack Wilson is said to have fired the shot which killed W. H. Cheek, Buckhead grocer, at Christmas, 1925. McCall Gore, convicted of participation in the Cheek murder, was electrocuted about a year ago at Milledgeville. Ruby Ray, a girl held in the case, who is serving a five-year sentence, stated that Wilson was the man who fired the shot.

BILL

We simply ain't goin' to carry 'em over. Everybody knows that Palm Beach suits sell for about $15. Metcalf's cash and carry price is $10.85, but tomorrow you get 'em for a five dollar note. Only 103 suits left to sell (sizes 34 to 42). I advise you to come early with the jack in your hand. "Git it up," if you have to "borrow, beg or—," yes, it's a steal to get one of these suits for a five dollar bill.

OTTLEY TO ADDRESS LAWYERS' CLUB TODAY

John K. Ottley, president of the Fourth National bank, will address the August meeting of the Lawyers' club of Atlanta, to be held in the Henry Grady hotel at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Ottley will speak on the relations of the legal profession to bankers and banking, and discuss especially the matter of corporate trusteeships.

Mr. Ottley's talk is the second of a series of addresses by prominent men being sponsored by the recently installed officers of the club. Eugene C. Black was the first speaker at the meeting a month ago.

Mrs. Weeden C. Nichols, soloist of the First Baptist church, will assist with the program, accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Withers. Rembert Marshall is president of the Lawyers' club, which has more than 300 members.

GUARDIAN INSURANCE CLUB MEETS MONDAY

The annual convention of the Leaders' club of the Guardian Life Insurance company will be held at the Mount Royal hotel, Montreal, Canada, August 14-16. The members of this club, who are those representatives of the company who have succeeded in writing a large amount of insurance during the year preceding the convention, are guests of the company during the session.

The members of the Leaders' club from the southern states are headed by R. N. R. Bardwell, southern agencies supervisor, and will leave this week for Montreal. The Georgians who have qualified to make the trip are F. B. Lowe, of Atlanta, and Dudley Spain and L. R. Christie, of Columbus.

DRIVER OF 'DEATH' TRUCK CONFESSES

Following his confession that he was the driver of the truck which struck and fatally injured A. W. Hill, 56, at the intersection of Wadell street and Edgewood avenue Wednesday afternoon, Ed Daniel, a negro, of 562 North avenue, N. W., is being held without bond at police headquarters, it was learned from detectives Thursday.

Daniel was arrested Thursday afternoon by Detectives Stevens and Taylor as he drove a light delivery truck along Butler street. The negro denied all knowledge of the accident and when taken to the scene of the fatal mishap witnesses were unable to identify him as the operator of the truck which sped on after hitting Hill.

Taken to headquarters by the officers, Daniel was subjected to a thorough cross-examination and after close questioning as to his whereabouts at the time of the accident admitted that he was the driver of the death auto, according to the officers who questioned him. He said that he did not stop because he feared the consequences of his act.

Mr. Hill, of 67 Wadell street, and a conductor on the N. C. & St. L. railroad, was hurled more than 50 feet when he was hit by the speeding truck, witnesses stated. He sustained a fracture of the skull, two broken legs and a fractured hip, the injuries claiming his life at Grady hospital late Wednesday night. The truck sped on before any of the bystanders could get the license number and detectives were forced to conduct their search for the driver on vague clues.

Funeral services for Mr. Hill will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Inman Park Baptist church. The Rev. A. W. Cowan will officiate and interment will be in West View.

GULF REFINING CO. SUE FOR $70,000 FOLLOWING CRASH

Three damage suits totaling $70,000 were filed in city court Thursday afternoon against the Gulf Refining company by parties claiming serious injury in a crash at Piedmont and Alpine roads July 15 between the automobile in which they were riding and another operated by Frank Mayhew.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wilson, of 1079 West Peachtree street, asked $35,000 damages for injuries to Mrs. Wilson and for the loss of her services. Thomas A. Glanton, of Grantville, riding with the Wilsons at the time, sought $35,000 damages for what was described as a permanent disability. The suits charge Mayhew turned left while driving between 35 and 40 miles an hour, striking and demolishing the Wilson automobile.

Attorney Joe Ewing filed the suits.

FLINT HILL SECTION PLANS HOMECOMING

Covington, Ga., August 9.—(Special.)—Citizens of the Flint Hill community will hold an enthusiastic homecoming rally Friday, August 17, according to plans being perfected by leaders of the community, near Covington.

All residents and former residents, as well as relatives and friends of persons residing in Flint Hill are cordially invited to attend the celebration, which will be featured by a large noon-hour basket dinner.

THOUSANDS ATTEND HIGHWAY FESTIVAL

Tallulah Falls, Ga., August 9.—(Special.)—With 5,000 people present to join in the occasion Habersham county today elaborately celebrated the opening of the complete highway between Clarksville and this point. Despite the busy peach shipping season in this area it was an all-day occasion with music furnished by the Georgia Power company band and a number of notable addresses, following which there was spread one of the largest and best prepared barbecues and winners ever served in northeast Georgia.

The preparations for the program were perfect. The highway was well patrolled by county police and the weather was perfect. A position on one of the beautiful bluffs near the falls had been built for the occasion and in a perfect amphitheater built by nature the thousands of visitors assembled in complete comfort to hear the speakers and the music. The master of ceremonies was F. M. Reeves, banker and public speaker, of Clarksville, and after a salutation by Judge C. R. Brown, ordinary of Habersham, an invocation by Rev. Dr. L. R. Limer, of Jefferson, the first address was by Wade Wright, secretary of the Georgia Power company, of Atlanta. He was followed in this by John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, and by United States Senator William J. Harris.

After another band number, James A. Hollomon, associated editor of The Atlanta Constitution, spoke, and was referred to in the introduction as the "father of good roads in the Georgia mountains."

Mr. Hollomon was followed by James B. Nevin, editor of the Atlanta Georgian, and J. J. Beck, of Atlanta, who has been a leader in the orchard and economic progress of the county. A telegram was read from John S. Cohen, of the Atlanta Journal.

No occasion of this nature has exceeded this in interest the cooperative spirit of the home people and the number of visitors from other sections, Atlanta furnishing the largest quota.

It was a practical holiday in Cornelia, Clarksville and Clayton.

The completion of the Habersham link in the Atlanta-Asheville paved highway by this short cut Tallulah route means that in a few months all of the Georgia section of the highway will be completed. The work is progressing on the links from Tallulah to Clayton, and from Clayton to the North Carolina line. The North Carolina paved highway from the state line to Asheville has long been completed. Mr. Hollomon stressed the beauty of the Georgia mountains for rest, health, pleasure and all that and asked why seek mountains other than those of Georgia. It was an epochal day for northeast Georgia.

RIVERS CHALLENGES HARDMAN TO DEBATE

Challenged by Senator E. D. Rivers to meet in a series of joint debates in the governor's race, Governor L. G. Hardman Thursday said he had nothing to say for publication at this time but would "make a statement later."

The challenge of Senator Rivers was delivered to the governor Thursday. He suggested one, three, five or seven debates and in places to be named by a committee of three. His challenge is as follows:

Your frank statements and advertisements state that I have been the cause of your failure as governor of Georgia; that the senate was the cause of your utter lack of leadership; that I am a puppet in the hands of certain interests; of course you can find an alibi satisfactory to yourself for your failure; you have been governor thirteen months; your friends have admitted that your administration was a complete failure and now by statement and by advertisement you admit same.

You have been elected to the highest office in the state; I have served as state senator. Your have made charges against me. I have treated you with all the respect due your advanced age and your position. I have no desire to say one word about your record and your administration except to your face. You have refused to appear at August.

I hereby challenge you to a series of joint discussions: one, three, five or seven, so that the voters can see and hear us and before this tribunal we can make an account of our stewardship, our record and our platform.

I am sending this challenge direct to you by the hand of a friend and I ask as early an answer as possible. It also ask that you select a friend and I will also select one—these two to select a third who shall arrange places, times and hours of speaking for these joint debates. You have been so busy in your charges through advertisements and statements prepared by your highly paid political experts that I feel sure you will welcome an opportunity to discuss with me your record and our platforms so the people themselves can judge as to which is best for Georgia. I await your reply and will send a friend to wait upon the one you select just as soon as advised.

Addition to Carnegie Library Building And Two New Branches Contemplated

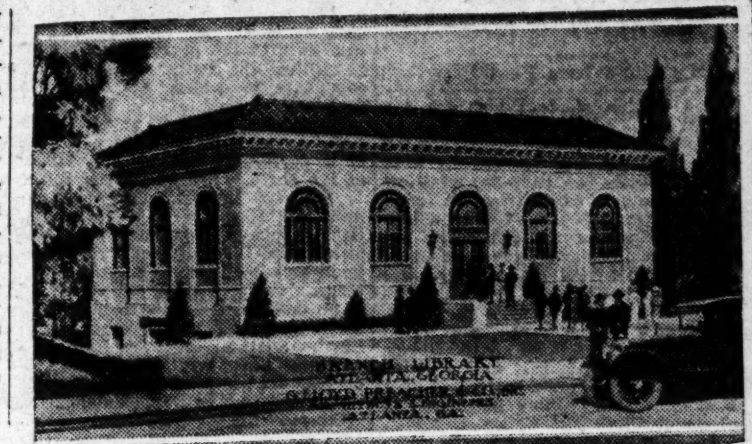

Drawings presented to the city by G. Lloyd Preacher, architect, showing proposed additions to the Carnegie library and a standardized plan for branches to be built in the future, which members of the library committee of city council, headed by Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth ward, will seek in a proposed bond issue. Plans contemplate addition of another story and extension of all floors of the main building, shown at the top in the larger picture. The first two new branches probably will be erected at West End and in the Inman Park sections of the city, where the city now owns sites.

The present plans provides for addition of another story to the present main building and an extension to all floors on a strip of land now vacant along the back of the present building. It would harmonize with the present structure and also would add to the beauty of the main building. While the plan, as prepared, contemplates standardization of future branch additions to the library system, it is expected that the first two structures will be erected in West End and in the Inman Park sections, where the city now owns lots acquired for the purpose. The branch structures would cost approximately $30,000 each and the addition to the main structure $200,000.

G. Lloyd Preacher, architect for Atlanta's new 15-story city hall and for all the schools being constructed from funds provided from the 1926 bond issue, prepared the drawings for the city free of charge.

It is expected that the shelf arrangement would also be standardized in the branch libraries, thus affording an added convenience to those who use them. The addition to the main building would be used for extra shelf room, reading rooms and work rooms for librarians.

Funds for the addition and the two other contemplated structures would be provided from the proposed $350,000 library fund, which has been included in a proposed new bond issue of about $5,000,000. A special committee from the finance committee of city council now is surveying the needs of the city with a view of making recommendations to council regarding the bond issue proposal.

In releasing tentative plans Mr. Drennon and Miss Barker called attention to the fact that the Carnegie library is filled to overflowing, and that Atlanta is sadly in need of several new branch institutions.

"During Atlanta's entire library history, which extends back about 30 years, the city has spent less than $25,000 for buildings," Miss Barker said Thursday. "Our present building has long since been outgrown and the service which the library renders the public is suffering badly."

"An example of the progress being made by other cities in the section is shown by the $500,000 issue of library bonds authorized within the last three months by Dallas."

Steps taken by other cities in this respect were described by Councilman Drennon.

"Birmingham has just expended $730,000 for its building," he said. "Baltimore has just voted $3,000,000."

CROSSING CRASH TAKES TWO LIVES

Gainesville, Ga., August 9.—(Special.)—Essie Cooper, 4, was instantly killed and her father, Jasper Cooper, 35, well-known Hall county farmer, died shortly after noon today in a local hospital from injuries received about 9 o'clock this morning when the light touring car in which they were riding was struck by northbound Southern passenger train No. 16 at the Gainesville Mill crossing, about 200 yards south of the local depot.

The little girl was hurled approximately 30 feet clear of the demolished automobile, her skull crushed and her body badly mangled. Cooper's legs were crushed and he suffered internal injuries to which he succumbed several hours after being taken to the hospital.

The two were en route to their home, four miles south of the city, and when they approached the railroad tracks witnesses state Mr. Cooper appeared to be watching a switch engine on another track in the yard and did not see the fast passenger train approaching. The cow-catcher on the front of the train was broken and had to be taken off by the engineer before proceeding on his route. Mr. Cooper is survived by his widow and three other children. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

ALLEGED SLAYER BELIEVED LOCATED

Augusta, Ga., August 9.—(Special.)—Officers here today expressed belief that a white man serving on the Hampton county, S. C., chaingang might be E. L. Booth, 28, of Lake City, Fla., sought by Florida officials for the alleged murder of his wife's grandfather, G. W. Simmons, Steubenville, Ohio.

Sheriff J. T. Plunkett, of Richmond county (Augusta) Ga., received a letter from Sheriff M. B. Douglas, of Columbia county (Lake City) Fla., enclosing a telegram from A. A. Adams, 432 Walker street, Augusta, giving a description of the man held in South Carolina.

Fired at Officer. The man was arrested at Yemassee, S. C., last week and sentenced to the chaingang on a charge of vagrancy. Adams, a railroad employee, said the man held on the Hampton county chaingang was sentenced to 60 days for vagrancy after he had been caught stealing a ride on a train and had to be taken off by the engineer before proceeding on his route. Adams said pictures he had seen published of the man wanted in Florida were much like those of the man held on the chaingang.

STATE ROTARY HEADS CONVENE AT ATHENS

Athens, Ga., August 9.—(P)—The annual conference of Rotary club presidents, secretaries and program committee heads of the district of Georgia selected Albany as the 1929 meeting place and heard the ideals of the organization expressed by a roster of speakers which included two members of the international committee here today.

S. Wade Marr, of Raleigh, N. C., an international Rotary director, was heard in the outstanding address at the closing session today. Dave Clarke, of Charlotte, N. C., an international committeeman of Rotary spoke on matters vital to the international government of the organization. Boys' club work which has met with substantial support of Rotary proved the theme for several speakers, including Porter Pierpont, of Savannah, and L. T. Arnold, of Jacksonville, Fla., both former district governors before Florida was made a separate division of the organization. Abert Nix, Athenian, recently selected district governor for Georgia, was presented with a diamond district pin by the local club at a luncheon.

Dr. William A. Sutton addressed the Rotarian leaders last night. Today's session began at a breakfast fete in which presidents and secretaries of the 26 clubs in the Georgia district were present.

EDMUND WALKER BUYS LAGRANGE NEWSPAPER

LaGrange, Ga., August 9.—Announcement was made today that Edmund Walker, widely known newspaper executive, has purchased the controlling interest in the LaGrange Reporter company. At a stockholders meeting held today Mr. Walker was elected president of the company and chairman of the board of directors.

W. H. Gibbon, formerly of San Antonio, Texas, comes to the Daily Reporter as its publisher and today was made a director in the corporation. He will succeed E. L. Howard as publisher, and Mr. Howard and his family plan to return to Newton, Iowa. Mr. Gibbon's wife will come to LaGrange in the near future and they will make their home here.

Few changes in the personnel of the Daily Reporter staff are contemplated. The policies will also remain substantially as at present although increased efforts will be made to thoroughly cover the local news field, and the circulation will be increased. Mr. Walker, who has extensive newspaper holdings throughout the country, is expected to make his headquarters in LaGrange after a short time, so that the Daily Reporter will be a home concern. Mr. Walker is now on his way to Oregon to bring his wife and daughter to Georgia.

SMALL LOAN ACT IS CONSTITUTIONAL, POMEROY RULES

In a decision handed down Thursday Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of superior court, upheld the constitutionality of the small loan act under which J. L. Morgan and J. H. Bennett, salary buyers, were indicted for misdemeanor several weeks ago.

Although neither plaintiff had been jailed, by agreement the test case was brought as a habeas corpus proceeding. Attorneys for Morgan and Bennett have announced they will appeal the case.

Morgan is charged with selling his credit in endorsing notes for borrowers at a greater rate than three and a half per cent a month, and Bennett with usury in making small loans. Carlton W. Binn, solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, to which the indictments were transferred from superior court, represented the state at the hearing Thursday.

PAPER'S ONE ISSUE DROPS DEATH TALE

Chicago, August 9.—(P)—Battered by a lack of clues, police tonight re-nounced their effort to find the slayer of Miss Jennie Constance, college professor and educator, who was assaulted and slain as she walked home alone from the Northwestern University library in Evanston Tuesday night.

What had been considered the only worthwhile clue in the slaying proved to be a "dud" this afternoon when detectives determined two pieces of pencil were not from the same pencil. One bit had been found near the woman's body and the other was taken from the clothing of John Burke, Evanston man held as a suspect. It was at first announced the two pieces were identical, insofar as they had been broken from the same pencil.

The iron bar used by the slayer is all that remains as a definite clue and police were unable to determine much after an examination of the bar. Burke is still under arrest while authorities are checking his movements of Tuesday night.

The body of Miss Constance, accompanied by her aged mother and sister, Miss Margaret Constance, who is a teacher at Wesley college, Fargo, N. D., was taken tonight to Cumberland, Wis., for burial.

Several rewards, including one of $1,000 offered by Northwestern University, have been posted for the capture and conviction of the slayer.

Taking Summer Course. Miss Constance, who was head of the English department at the Polytechnic institute at Peoria, Ill., was taking a summer course at Northwestern University.

A special edition of one copy of the Evanston News Index was printed today for Mrs. Mattie Constance, mother of the young woman.

Constance, who is 35 years old, has been kept in ignorance of the circumstances of the attack. Out of regard for her feelings, the paper printed a single copy for her changing the story to state that Miss Constance was killed in an automobile accident.

DUPONT GIVEN LEAVE BY GENERAL MOTORS

"The board felt," Mr. Sloan's statement added, "that the position of the corporation, having been stated, was understood and that all should appreciate that Mr. DuPont's activities in connection with that association were work are entirely those of an individual and did not concern the corporation."

When Raskob resigned July 23 he and President Sloan agreed in an exchange of letters that the corporation should have no part in politics.

While quitting as chairman of the finance committee and as a member of the executive committee of the corporation, Raskob retained his position as a vice president and director. In this way and through the refusal of the board to accept DuPont's resignation the corporation retains within its organization two of its largest stockholders. Raskob is recognized as one of the largest individual stockholders and the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Powder company, of which DuPont is chairman of the board, owns nearly 25 per cent of the common stock.

General Motors dropped five points on the stock exchange yesterday when DuPont's plan to resign became known, but closed today with a net gain of two and one-eighth points.

DuPont, a member of the Episcopal church and normally a republican, is a cousin of T. Coleman DuPont, republican senator from Delaware. He has been closely associated with Raskob for more than 20 years, their relations beginning when Raskob became DuPont's secretary while the latter was running the street railway of Lorain, Ohio. Raskob later persuaded DuPont to buy General Motors stock with him and with the purchase of a block of 3,000 shares they became identified with the phenomenal growth of the corporation.

Besides his interest in General Motors and the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company DuPont is a director of the National Exchange Insurance company, American International corporation, General Motors Acceptance corporation, Bankers Trust company, the Philadelphia National bank, and president and director of the Wilmington Trust company, of Wilmington, Del., where he lives.

Simultaneously with the action today the resignation of Raskob from the executive committee of the Missouri Pacific railroad became known. He said he relinquished that position and his directorate on the Gulf Coast lines, the Texas and Pacific railway and the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Too many positions and did not have time to attend to the business details in connection with all of them. The resignations were submitted last March, Raskob added, long before he had any idea of becoming chairman of the democratic national committee.

RASKOB RETIRES FROM RAILROADS.
New York, August 9.—(P)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, resigned today from the executive committee of the Missouri Pacific railroad. It was announced today, and as a member of the special committee appointed to plan a divided policy for the system, but he retains his post as a director of the road.

He also has resigned as a director of the Gulf Coast lines, the Texas and Pacific railway and the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad. The resignations are understood to have been offered before Mr. Raskob's recent European trip.

Finley J. Shephard, vice president of the Missouri Pacific, and Arthur W. Loasby, president of the Equitable Trust company, of New York, have been elected directors of the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad, succeeding Mr. Raskob and the late Alvin W. Krech, who headed the Equitable Trust.

MRS. ROSS TAKES CHARGE OF DRIVE.
New York, August 9.—(P)—Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, as a vice chairman of the democratic national committee, today assumed charge of the campaign to be waged among the nation's women for the election of Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential nominee.

She conferred with John J. Raskob, chairman of the national committee; with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a leader of this state's democratic women, and with other party officials.

"The women of the west may be counted upon," she said, "they know Smith's practical and sound administration and his attitude toward the prohibition laws."

"But I am convinced that prohibition is not an issue in this campaign and that it will not be an issue."

was easily captured and returned to the county jail at Cordele. Noting that the machine bore an Ohio tag, authorities wired Cleveland police to ascertain whether their prisoner was wanted there on any charge, and it is said found that he was wanted on the charges of burglary and larceny in connection with the department store robbery.

Detective R. E. Spaulding arrived in Cordele Wednesday, armed with extradition papers for the prisoner, to find that he had been tried on the local theft charge before Circuit Judge D. A. R. Crumb and sentenced to 12 months on the gang, or to pay a fine of $250. Spaulding was told, it is said, that he would have to pay the fine or wait until Gillespie had served his term before he could take him back to face the Ohio charges.

The detective then came to Atlanta and conferred with Governor Hardman. The governor notified him Thursday night that he had issued a pardon for Gillespie in connection with the charges against him in this state and Spaulding will go to Cordele today to get his prisoner.

"POOR MOTHER," WRITES DYING SUB LEADER

submarine, immediately after the sinking, said:

"We have six dead in poop. We are standing with the poop sunk in the mud. The position of the submarine is almost vertical."

Four Drowned.
After the vessel was raised it was found that only four had died by drowning, the difference being explained by the fact that two other men were in the submarine at the moment of the stern, while the captain and others of the crew were in the prow.

Search began immediately but it was unsuccessful until seaplanes arrived. The rescuers immediately sent this message:

"Be of good cheer. We have found you. Divers are descending."

To this the submarine replied: "Morale on board is highest, but poison gases are beginning to form. We plead for haste."

The destroyer Aquila then steamed over the wreck, dragging a heavy anchor hawser. This brought the following message from below:

"We feel a heavy body passing over the hull."

Air Tubes Fall.
Divers immediately descended and in a few minutes had fixed an air tube through which fresh air was started into the submarine. The rescuers then messaged:

"Courage. We are sending you air. How are you feeling?"

The reply was that poison gases were still being felt and that no benefit had resulted from the air tube. This message ended: "Be quick."

At 11 p. m. Monday night the submarine said:

"We are lost."

A few minutes later its sounder was again heard, saying:

"Gas is advancing inexorably. We are dying. Long live—"

The message was finished and the explanation came when the hand was discovered with his open first on the key of his instrument.

never was so sanguine about a political situation.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER IS UNDESIRABLE

Staunton, Va., August 9.—(P)—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens, of Florida, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, said in an interview here today that she was undesirable.

"Whether or not she will support Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for president. She added that she was not prepared to talk at this time in regard to national politics.

"It is too early to make an accurate prediction in regard to the national election in the fall," Mrs. Owens said further. "I think that about September an accurate estimate can be made, but before that time it is merely guesswork."

Mrs. Owens, who recently was nominated for congress in the fourth Florida district, was in Staunton today making arrangements to enter her son in a local school this fall.

DONAHEY TO HEAR EXTRADITION CASE OF CHARLES WILSON

Columbus, Ohio, August 9.—(P)—Hearing on application of Florida authorities for extradition of Charles G. Wilson from Dayton to Tampa, where he is charged with embezzlement of $20,000 in money which came into his hands as liquidating agent for Tampa Beach, Inc., real estate concern, is being set for September 3 before Governor Donahoe.

SMITH IS EN ROUTE TO BRENNAN FUNERAL

placed at his disposal also for his travels during the campaign.

Included in a small party invited to accompany the governor, were Kenneth James J. Riordan, of New York, another close friend; Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City and a vice chairman of the democratic national committee; the governor's son, Arthur, and two of his military aides—Adjutant General Franklin W. Ward and Colonel Charles E. Walsh, commander of the Tenth infantry.

In expressing regret over the death of the Illinois political leader, the governor recalled that he first had met him at the democratic national convention in San Francisco eight years ago. Since that time, Mr. Brennan had been listed as one of Smith's strongest adherents, favoring his nomination for the presidency—in 1924 and again this year.

The schedule calls for the governor's arrival in Chicago aboard the first section of the Twentieth Century Limited at 9:45 a. m. (tentative standing time) tomorrow. He and his party will go immediately to Our Lady of Mount Carmel church for the funeral services.

If they have time before their departure for the east on the Twentieth Century early in the afternoon they also will go to the cemetery for the burial.

Prior to his departure late today, the governor held his daily conference with newspapermen nearly a dozen of whom had arranged to accompany him. Instead of meeting them in his private office, he received them in the reception room at the executive mansion. Attired in pajamas and a dressing gown.

The nominee said he had received no reply from John Raskob, chairman of the New York Baptist minister, whom he has challenged to a joint debate on his political career in the clergyman's church. Until he receives word direct from him, Smith announced that he would have nothing further to say regarding their proposed tilt.

fornia. The present plan is for him to board his train there and make only a brief platform appearance at Pasadena.

The nominee will reach Kansas City on the night of August 20, remaining there for perhaps an hour. Arriving at West Branch early on the morning of August 21 he and Mrs. Hoover and their son, Allan, will have breakfast at the home of the Hoovers, where he was born. At 7 o'clock that night he will make his second set address of the campaign.

With his slate cleared of engagements today, the commerce secretary was able to practically complete his visit to the agricultural situation with considerable more detail perhaps, than he will in his acceptance speech here Saturday.

Bearing the official message of the action of the Kansas City convention pudator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, arrived today in San Francisco but decided to defer his visit to the nominee until tomorrow.

Dr. Hubert H. Hurd, chairman of the republican national committee, will arrive from Chicago accompanied by Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania.

Moses had with him former Governor Baxter, of Maine, who will ask the republican standard bearer to visit that state before the congressional elections there on September 7 and Senator Wolcott, of Delaware. Moses denied that there was any rivalry between himself and Dr. Work as he has been currently reported in the east ever since a few days after both houses of congress by a two-thirds majority vote. It was pre-

"There is nothing to those reports," the senator said with emphasis.

Discussing the campaign situation, Moses said organization work was well under way but that the real campaigning would not begin until after Governor Alfred E. Smith had delivered his acceptance address on August 22.

"Since Governor Smith has undertaken to re-write the democratic platform," he added, "we have to get from him some statement which will indicate where his feet are placed—if they are placed definitely at any time in the campaign."

However, we already know enough of the campaign outlines and general conditions throughout the states to realize that we confront an alert, adroit and an affluent foe. This means we must press hard and fight at every step of the way. We are making the fight and we will win it."

HUGHES TO BE ASKED TO LEAD SPEAKERS.
Washington, August 9.—(United News).—Charles E. Hughes will be asked to lead the republican speaking campaign in New York and Connecticut and New England states, Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, in charge of eastern campaign speakers, said today.

The republicans desire to use Hughes in New York state, believing that for no one more effective than anyone else in checking Smith. The fact that Smith is said to have opposed the anti-racing legislation which Hughes tried while governor is regarded as making Hughes the more valuable on the stump.

Tilson promised an intensive campaign ready to begin in the east. He regards the east as the decisive battleground.

Tilson has just returned from California where he accompanied Hoover. He said the candidate's human side was brought out on the trip.

"People had a lot of fun with him about that fishing trip where he caught nothing worth mentioning," Tilson said, "but he kidded right back."

G. O. P. REPRESENTATIVE PLEASED BY WEST.
Washington, August 9.—(P)—Reporting a bright outlook for republicans in the west, Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, returned here today from the Pacific coast to organize a speaking campaign in the east.

Mr. Tilson, who is director of the eastern speakers' bureau, is giving first attention to Maine, where an election is to be held early in September.

HUSHED MAN WHO SHOT ATTORNEY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., August 9.—(P)—State, county and city police today sought in vain for a motive which they could ascribe for the mysterious shooting of County Attorney Edward E. Eddy while playing on the links at the MacGregor golf course, just outside city limits.

A young man, masked by a handkerchief, stepped from a woods near the fourth hole, while Mr. Eddy was preparing to tee off yesterday and, upon receiving a copy to reply to his command to "kick 'em up," shot the county attorney in the chest.

At the Saratoga hospital physicians reported Eddy had "more than an even chance" for recovery.

An attempt to link the shooting in some way with the gambling and vice crusade now under way under direct orders from Governor Smith was ridiculed by officials.

A posse consisting of state troopers, deputy sheriffs and members of the Saratoga Springs police force combed the surrounding country all night without finding any trace of the man who committed the assault.

a position inconsistent with the requirements to qualify himself as a candidate in the party, that it would be within the power of the county board to declare his nomination forfeited.

"I cannot see how any man can conscientiously claim to be a nominee of the party, when he himself refuses to recognize and support the nominees of the party on the national platform," said a position today inconsistent and illogical that I cannot see how any man can conscientiously place himself in such a position and if he does so, it seems to me that in repudiating the party he should resign his nomination, or if he fails to do so that the party committee could exercise its power as above indicated."

In replying to Mr. Maddox, Mr. Atkinson said in part:

"Our local committee will follow the literal rules of the party, but some of the county committees, while retaining the name democratic, are republican in majority, and carry on publicans as nominees of the democratic party, on the democratic ticket. These conditions should be called to the attention of the farmers of this country who will not fall for this latest 'con' game from the sidewalks of New York."

An assistant secretary of agriculture under both administrations of President Wilson, Vrooman has been active in behalf of the "dirt farmers" in the democratic party. He drafted and introduced the first farm relief bill in congress in 1921. It was the only bill of its kind to be passed by both houses of congress by a two-thirds majority vote. It was pre-

FORMER OFFICIAL TO OPPOSE SMITH.
Chicago, August 9.—(P)—Carl Vrooman, of Bloomington, Ill., a former assistant secretary of agriculture, today announced his opposition to the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, at the offices of the western republican campaign headquarters.

Vrooman's statement, sent to James W. Good, western campaign manager, said: "The Tammany hall campaign against the farmers of this country seems to be based on its theory that it can sell political gold brick promises to a bunch of hayseeds out there who are farmers of this country who will not fall for this latest 'con' game from the sidewalks of New York."

HEADQUARTERS OPEN OFFICES NEXT WEEK.
Washington, August 9.—(P)—Headquarters of the republican senatorial campaign committee will be opened in Washington on August 15 by Senator Metcalf, of Rhode Island, chairman of the committee.

In announcing the plan today Senator Metcalf declared his belief that the election would return a large republican majority to the senate. He added that his committee would work in close touch with the national campaign body.

Senator Metcalf will remain in Washington while the other members of the committee, Senators Gillett, of Massachusetts; Capper, of Kansas; Pine, of Oklahoma; Phipps, of Colorado, and Deneen, of Illinois, will keep in touch with the body's activities at their respective homes.

HOOVER TO DEFINE STAND ON UTILITIES.
Palo Alto, Calif., August 9.—(United News).—Herbert Hoover will make clear his position on the Boulder dam and public utilities issues in a speech at Los Angeles August 17. It was learned today at the campaign headquarters of the republican presidential nominee.

The anti-trust movement carried a considerable degree of political importance because of the relationship between the presidential nominee and Senator Hiram Johnson, who has been campaigning for reelection throughout southern California, devoting his speeches almost entirely to attacks upon the go-called power combine.

In a recent speech Johnson said no one was so exalted that he could avoid making a definite pronouncement of his views regarding the proposed Boulder dam and power dam in Boulder county, Colo., which would irrigate 125,000 acres of land.

RASKOB SELL ATLANTA COTTON

Georgia's first 1928 bale of cotton, which arrived at Hadley field, N. J., Thursday afternoon by airplane from Atlanta, will be delivered by automobile truck to the national democratic headquarters in New York early today and will be placed on display in the main reception room until arrangements are made for a public auction, it was announced Thursday night in Associated Press dispatches from New York.

Proceeds of the sale of the cotton are to be turned into the democratic campaign fund. The bale of cotton, which was delivered at Hadley field by Pilot R. L. Stephens, of Atlanta, will be received today by a committee composed of John J. Raskob, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, Howard S. Cullman, of the New York port authority, and other campaign officials at the democratic headquarters.

Arrangements for the auction were made when New York cotton exchange officials wired the Atlanta commercial exchange that the auction could be held under their auspices only if the proceeds went to charity.

The 400-pound bale was sent by members of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange, headed by T. W. Tift, president, to John Raskob, leader of the Smith campaign forces, to be sold for the benefit of the democratic campaign fund. It brought 42 cents on the floor of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange, being bid in by Mr. Tift. The cotton was grown by C. O. Smith, of Moultrie.

Telegraphic dispatches Thursday told of the progress of the cotton as it moved northward by airplane. The first dispatch was from Washington, where Stephen's plane stopped at Bolling field, while the second was from Philadelphia where the bale of cotton paid a brief visit. The third dispatch told of its arrival at Hadley field from where it is being shipped in to the democratic headquarters in New York.

CONDITION OF CATES REPORTED IMPROVING

A. B. Cates, Atlanta realtor who was injured in an auto crash near Buford, Monday, now has a good chance to recover, it was learned Thursday night at Wesley Memorial hospital.

Mr. Cates' left hand was badly crushed in the wreck and after doctors found it necessary to amputate the left arm above the elbow early Tuesday morning his condition was critical for more than 48 hours.

DEPT. A-1

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY, TO THE SUPERIOR COURT OF SAID COUNTY.

The petition of G. RICE, J. C. WRIGHT, W. A. MANN and MISS PEARLE WRIGHT, all of said county, respectively, respectfully shew:

(1) That said petitioners desire for themselves, their associates, successors and assigns, to be incorporated for the term of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the expiration of that time, under the name and style of

GEORGIA-ALABAMA GRAVEL AND SAND CO., INC.

(2) That the object of said corporation is pecuniary gain to its stockholders.

(3) That the capital stock of said corporation will be Fifteen Thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars, divided into one hundred (100) shares of the par value of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars each, and one hundred (100) shares of increasing said capital stock, from time to time, by a majority vote of the stockholders, to the sum of One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00) Dollars, said additional stock to be issued either as common stock, or as preferred stock, with such rights and privileges as a majority of the stockholders may determine, and with the like power, after increasing said capital stock, from time to time, by a majority vote of the stockholders, to decrease said capital stock, from time to time, by a majority vote of the stockholders, to any sum not less than Fifteen Thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars.

(4) All of said stock will be subscribed for, and ten per cent (10%) of said capital stock will be paid in before the incorporation begins business under the charter herein applied for.

(5) The particular business proposed to be carried on by said corporation will be that of mining, manufacturing, buying, selling and otherwise disposing of sand, gravel, stone, clay, and other minerals, and also well as manufacturing, buying and selling any products into which any one or more of said articles is a part.

(6) Petitioners desire that said corporation shall have the right to take in payment of the capital stock, either money or property, at a fair value to be placed on the property by the board of directors of said corporation.

(7) Petitioners desire that said corporation shall have the right to acquire, lease, or otherwise acquire real estate, or other personal property, including machinery that may be deemed advantageous in the operation of said business, and to have such other powers and privileges as are granted to similar corporations under the laws of this State.

(8) The principal office and place of business of said corporation shall be located in Fulton County, Georgia, but petitioners desire that said corporation shall have the right to establish branch offices, agencies and places of doing business in any and every other state of Georgia, as well as in any other state of the United States.

(9) Petitioners desire that said corporation shall have the right to procure and accept amendments to its charter, including fundamental amendments, by the vote of a two-thirds majority in amount of its outstanding common stock.

WHEREFORE, petitioners pray that this petition be filed and published, as required by law, and that they be incorporated, as prayed, with all the privileges and powers herein set forth.

Filed in office, this 8th day of August, 1928.

T. C. MILLER, Clerk.

STATE OF GEORGIA—COUNTY OF FULTON: I, T. C. MILLER, Clerk of the Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the application for charter of GEORGIA-ALABAMA GRAVEL AND SAND COMPANY, INC., as the same appears of file in this court, and the seal of said court, this 9th day of August, 1928.

Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, the future Mrs. James Joseph Tunney, whose engagement to the retired heavyweight champion pugilist was announced Wednesday.

South Bristol, Maine, August 9.—(AP)—Gene Tunney today apparently was content to remain in seclusion of the Lauder estate on John's island, while photographers and newspapermen who awaited the appearance of the retired heavyweight champion and his fiancée, Miss Josephine Lauder, were fobbed off on the mainland.

While it was established that Tunney was within hailing distance of press cameras, since his arrival at the island, he has been lost to view and efforts of outsiders to land on the shores of his retreat have been rebuffed by husky fishermen acting as guards.

With fog hanging over the coastline it was considered possible that Tunney could evade watchful eyes if he should wish to leave the island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ewing, uncle and aunt of Miss Lauder, reside on Hix Island, adjacent to John's island. Hix Island, easily reached by the Lauder motorboats, is connected to the mainland by a small bridge.

$60,000,000 Lost By Lowenstein, Paper Reveals

London, August 9.—(AP)—Mme. Alfred Lowenstein, widow of the Belgian financier who was killed in a fall from his airplane while over the English channel, refused tonight to comment on the published reports that Captain Lowenstein left an estate of $60,000,000 pounds after suffering losses of $20,000,000 pounds during the three weeks preceding his death.

Mme. Lowenstein, who is staying in a London hotel, also declined to comment on the terms of her husband's will or her own plans for the future.

The Evening News said today that Lowenstein left $9,000,000 pounds to be divided equally between his widow and his son. Financial circles here agree that the estate suffered a heavy blow on the terms of her husband's will, the dramatic disappearance and death of Captain Lowenstein, but do not explain for what cause. There has been much speculation concerning the contents of his will which was opened in Brussels the day after his body was recovered from the water.

LOCAL T. P. A. POST IN ANNUAL PICNIC AT GRANT PARK

Local Post No. 10, Travelers' Protective association, held its annual picnic dinner Thursday night at the Grant park pavilion. The affair was given by the Ladies' auxiliary of the post, of which Mrs. John H. Owens is president.

Entertainment was in charge of Mrs. F. M. Freeman, and the feature of the occasion was the dancing of the Virginia reel, the square dance and other old steps. The music was furnished by a colored string orchestra.

P. L. Simpson is president of the local post.

Relief Seen Today; Rains Are Expected

Atlanta may receive temporary relief from the heat this afternoon in the form of local thundershowers, C. F. Herrmann, Atlanta's State meteorologist, said Thursday. Temperatures today are expected to follow closely those of Thursday, when the maximum was 90 and the minimum was 72 degrees.

Morning clouds kept the temperature down a little Thursday, preventing the mercury from repeating its trick of Wednesday, when it climbed to 94 for the hottest day of the year.

NOMINEES SWELL MISSOURI LEADS

St. Louis, August 9.—(AP)—The nominees for United States senator—Roscoe C. Patterson, of Springfield, republican, and Charles M. Hay, St. Louis, democrat, both drys—increased their leads in tabulations late today of returns from all but a few hundred rural precincts in the state-wide primary Tuesday.

Francis M. Wilson, democrat, St. Louis, and Henry C. Baughman, republican, St. Louis, likewise added to their overwhelming pluralities for the gubernatorial nomination.

Patterson won 68,548 against 91,788 for Nathan Frank, St. Louis wet candidate, held a lead of 7,000 votes in returns from 3,528 of the 4,143 precincts, including the complete city vote. Frank jumped to the front yesterday on his St. Louis strength and promptly lost out when the city vote was complete and rural sections rolled in preferences for Patterson.

After returns from 3,477 precincts were reported, Baughman led 146,434 to Lieutenant-Governor Phil Bennett's 86,278 and much smaller votes for the three other republican candidates for governor.

Hay swelled his lead to 22,288 votes, the reports from 3,734 precincts giving him 157,232 and James A. Collet 134,944.

Wilson's total in 3,229 precincts reached 226,562 and State Senator A. L. McCawley had corralled but 64,829 in the democratic gubernatorial contest.

SECONDARY OFFICES HOLDING INTEREST.

Oklahoma City, Okla., August 9.—(AP)—As complete returns from Tuesday's primary election showed the results of the last outstanding close races for major state and congressional nominations, attention was turned today to other neck and neck contests in secondary offices of various districts.

After leading by only one vote at one stage, Walter S. Mills, of Clinton, pulled away from John Scott, of Elk City, in the race for the republican congressional nomination in the seventh district. With complete votes from all but one county, Mills had 1,534 votes and Scott 1,424. J. V. McClinton, democratic incumbent in this district was unopposed.

Another close race had developed in the eighth district between J. P. Battenger, former president of Northwestern State Teachers' college, at Alva and John W. Williams, of Medford, for the democratic congressional nomination.

M. C. Garber, republican incumbent, was renominated. Battenger had 4,006 votes in 300 out of 408 precincts and Williams 3,325.

The result of the republican congressional race in the fifth district where F. B. Swank, the democratic incumbent, was renominated, also was in doubt. In 357 of the 423 precincts, U. S. Stone, of Norman, had 2,369 votes and C. P. Stealey, of Oklahoma City, 3,088.

Complete unofficial returns indicated the renomination of Chief Justice Fred P. Branson, of the state supreme court, over W. O. Brown, of Muskogee, his closest opponent, by a vote of 8,700 to 8,030. The race was one of the last major contests to be determined definitely.

KANSAS DEMOCRATS NOMINATE LITTLE.

Topeka, Kans., August 9.—(AP)—Chauncey B. Linn, the Olathe lawyer and former congressman, was nominated for governor by the democrats of Kansas on the face of almost complete returns tonight from Tuesday's primary and will oppose Clyde M. Reed, of Parsons, the republican nominee, in November.

Unlike Reed, who ran far ahead in the republican race, Little found spirited opposition from Ed. T. Hackney, of Wellington, and it appeared that the final count would give the Olathe candidate a margin of not more than 2,000 votes.

Good Roads Backer.

Little has been an ardent advocate of good roads and has urged a $300,000,000 bond issue by the state to complete a state highway system, the cost to be borne by a tax on gasoline and motor vehicles.

He was the only democratic candidate for state office who had opposition in the primary.

Reed, who is a newspaper publisher and former member of the state public utilities commission, made his principal appeal to the farmers, stressing low rates as his main theme.

Believing the burdens of agriculture, nominees for the other state offices included:

Lieutenant-governor—J. W. Graybill, Newton (rep.); J. E. Kimmel, Robinson (dem).

Secretary of State—E. A. Cornell, (rep.); W. H. Kemper, Topeka, (dem).

Attorney General.

Attorney general—W. A. Smith, Valley Falls, (rep.); Eugene W. Davis, Liberal, (dem.).

Auditor—Will J. French, St. John, (rep.); J. B. Rieseley, Stockton, (dem.).

Treasurer—John B. Boyd, Topeka, (rep.); S. R. Tucker, Codell, (dem.).

The five republican congressmen seeking to retain their seats were renominated: Rep. U. S. Guyer, second district; W. H. Sprout, third district; Homer Hoch, fourth district; James G. Strong, fifth district; Clifford B. Hope, seventh district.

A dirt farmer, W. P. Lambertson, was nominated in the first district for the place from which D. R. Anthony, Jr., chairman of the house appropriations committee, is retiring. Charles I. Sparks was nominated in the sixth district where the incumbent republican, Hays B. White, is retiring.

W. A. Ayres, the only Kansas democrat in congress was renominated without opposition while Richard E. Bird, of Wichita, who defeated Ayres in the 1920 general election was chosen as the republican nominee.

11 MEN BURNED IN MINE BLAST NEAR PARIS, ARK.

Paris, Ark., August 9.—(AP)—Eleven men were burned, three severely, in an explosion today at the Eureka coal mine near here. The mine was badly damaged by fire which followed the explosion.

The three seriously injured are Willie Williams, Louis Gennin and his father, Joe Gennin. The explosion occurred when a gas pocket was ignited by an open head lamp of one of the miners.

THE GUMPS—SILENCE IS GOLDEN

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

SYNOPSIS
The young Elizabeth is the adored daughter of Tim and Elizabeth Darcy. When she is four years old she runs away from home to avoid punishment for getting into mischief. She is brought home promptly by a neighbor, Miss Smiley.

At 12, Elizabeth runs away again, this time from school and to the home of her Aunt Dolly, in London. Dolly, who is almost as highly strung as young Elizabeth, sympathizes with her niece, much to the irritation of her stepson, Stephen. After the death of her parents Elizabeth goes to live with her aunt. During the war they keep themselves busy and amused by performing in amateur theatricals for the benefit of wounded soldiers. Stephen, home on leave, is asked by his stepmother to bring Mark Lennox, a young playwright, to one of their performances. Shortly after the end of the war Mrs. Whitby dies suddenly in Brighton, and Elizabeth learns to her consternation that her aunt had frittered away the money left her by her husband, and had also disposed of some of Stephen's inheritance as well. Afraid to face Stephen after this revelation, Elizabeth decides to go to Mark Lennox in London and ask him to get her a job with the stage. Stephen finds her with Mark and, although his business has failed, he offers to help her. She refuses his help and advice, and takes a part in Mark's new play, the opening of which she gets his help and runs off, leaving an understudy to take over her part. Miss Smiley, who happens to be in London visiting her cousin, Mrs. White, sees Elizabeth on the street and takes her to Mrs. White's house. The latter offers her a job as cook and Elizabeth accepts. But she falls in this job, too, and then lands a post as companion to an old lady in the country. Julian Vestington, the old lady's grandfather, makes all the arrangements with Elizabeth. Stephen arranges with his cousin, William Whitby, to take over the management of the latter's business. Elizabeth grows fond of Mrs. Vestington, who shows attention upon her young companion, but the girl misses her mother's companionship and acquires a mystery about the house.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.
A NAMELESS FEAR.
Elizabeth flinched up at Stephen's remark at once. "Me, jealous of you? Really Stephen, of all the peacock for vanity! I'm jolly glad you are with her all the time instead of making my life a misery trying to guard her." "I only meant—"

"I don't care what you meant. You never mean the things I mean any way, and never will. You're one of the stiff-necked high-toned—"

"O, come, Elizabeth!" Stephen was not unaware of his aim athletic figure.

She took no notice, "—that they talk of in the Bible. You carry your head so high you never see what's happening about you. If you had a wife you'd never see she was unhappy unless she moaned and groaned all the time—and then you'd probably think it was toothache and tell her to go and have it out. As if one can have tireless husbands extracted, even without gas! And if she bore it, you'd think she was happy because she was brave!"

"Thank you," snorted Stephen. "we can only hope that as I am so blind, my great fortitude will be equal to the occasion."

"To all occasions," corrected Elizabeth. "It doesn't matter being unhappy in lumps, even frightfully unhappy. It's when you're a little unhappy all the time. A shadow crossed her face and her voice trembled."

Stephen was startled, even a little upset. Why the child's face was positively tragic, and not so very young! Somehow he could not stand that.

"You cannot imagine yourself unhappy here," he exclaimed, "with such life, we can't have simply everything, a kind devoted friend as Mrs. Vestington. O, child, don't ask too much of you have been so spoiled! And it's as if she's getting me and soon there will be nothing left for myself, perhaps no more me. O, Stephen, of course, you do not understand. Men can't know really about women, what they are underneath, and when a woman is cruel she is much more cruel and dreadful than any man can be. Only, of course, Mrs. Vestington is not cruel, she is kind. Only even that makes it more dreadful and frightful at times, as if it was a sort of dreadful getting sort of kindness, too. Women show one side to women and another to men, just as men do—only I don't think they manage to deceive us as much." She gave him a sudden shrewd old man's look.

He gazed at her helplessly. Elizabeth had always seemed so absurdly young; now she was making him feel immature. "But frightened of her?" "Not her, perhaps, I don't know. Perhaps something she stands for, like an oncoming sea or fate or—death. You can't push it back. You know it's going to get you sooner or later. . . . Her voice died away into a little whimper. "As she's coming to get me. . . . in some strange awful way. O, Stephen, take me away, take me away!" She clung to him wildly. "You can't want me to go mad like that poor girl, die horribly here like her, leave my unhappiness behind to add to hers and roam at night up and down, up and down, up and down."

"What's this about a young girl?" demanded Stephen, startled.

(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

things . . . they seemed so weak, so pitiable . . . one went to pull them out of deep waters, and lo! they wound those frail arms round one with a grip of steel and down one went and down . . . never to rise to the surface again, never to be free of those fatal chains. . . .

Elizabeth, too, remembered Dolly, and things she had been too young to understand at the time . . . not quite nice things; not "straight" things. Like getting men to pay heavy bills at hotels and then going away before the men could expect any return. Cheating. It was for her virtue she condemned her in her thoughts when she could understand, not for her lack of it. It was not playing the game, she had wanted things both ways—and got them. She was utterly selfish and managed to obtain without the payment that would have meant an inconvenience to one of her cold nature. It was ugly, that view of the Dolly who had been so kind and indulgent to her! She was glad that Stephen could not guess.

"O, you are hard," she burst out. "Nobody would come to you in real trouble."

Yet was this true? Stephen would be a rock in face of real trouble, but his idea of real trouble and hers would never agree, so that he would be useless after all. Suppose she felt she could not stay alone with Mrs. Vestington any longer—and there were times when she felt like that! Would Stephen help her there? She was sure he would not.

"I hope you always would, Elizabeth," he said gravely. "Now what is troubling you? You're a little dull here? Is that it?"

"Of course I am dull, but that doesn't matter, at least not much. It's not that at all," she gave a quick glance over her shoulder. "It's . . . sometimes, I am frightened, Stephen, of . . . dreadfully frightened."

"Frightened, child? Of what?" He placed a protecting arm around her shoulders and for a moment, with great sigh of relief, she rested her head against him. She might hate Stephen—hate him so much at times that her heart thumped in her ears—but he was strong. One could not feel afraid of anything with him by one.

"I think it's the high walls, being shut in . . . it gives me a queer sort of breathless feeling. It's like a prison, sometimes. I am of the old servants because they do not seem really human. And of the woman at the lodge—Blossom."

"But you have nothing to do with her." He had noticed Blossom and been instantly repelled by her evil face.

"No, only she's always there, watching and waiting. And of the poor girl who was driven mad here, and even—O, Stephen, do not laugh—of Mrs. Vestington!"

"Frightened of Mrs. Vestington?" He could hardly utter the words in his amazement. Frightened of that sweet, pretty, tiny, kind lady. His mouth hardened, and he stood away from the girl, shocked at her ingratitude. Dolly had been the same. The more she was given the more she demanded.

"I know you would not understand," she said pitiously, "I hardly understand myself, it's so vague and—of sort of queer and something that is not really there after all. Only there's something . . . underneath her, something so strong, like the iron hand in the velvet glove. And it's as if she's getting me and soon there will be nothing left for myself, perhaps no more me. O, Stephen, of course, you do not understand. Men can't know really about women, what they are underneath, and when a woman is cruel she is much more cruel and dreadful than any man can be. Only, of course, Mrs. Vestington is not cruel, she is kind. Only even that makes it more dreadful and frightful at times, as if it was a sort of dreadful getting sort of kindness, too. A New Form of Candy, Friendly to Little Stomachs

Delicious, fruit-flavored lollipops—known as Dextrons. That's the new candy which solves Mother's most vexing problem. For children can have all they want; Dextrons are friendly to little stomachs, actually good for little bodies.

Dextrons do it. Dextrons are made of this virtually predigested food, which is more digestible even than Lactose (the sugar of milk). And that is why leading specialists in Atlanta recommend that you give this new candy to your children.

Dextrons are available wherever good candies are sold. Have them handy; your children beg for candy so often. And Dextrons are good for them. DEXTRON COMPANY, ATLANTA.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES
CHATTERER'S LONG SWIM.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

You'll find that fear will still persist in finding things that don't exist. —Old Mother Nature.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel would have been enjoying himself but for one thing. That one thing was the uncertainty as to whether or not the Weasel, Chatterer had become thoroughly rested. At the time he had sat away out on a branch overlooking the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Looking down, he looked right into the water. He had not been able to jump to that tree. He had had to climb it from the ground. He knew that anyone who might be following him would have to climb it from the ground. He knew that if Shadow the Weasel were still following him he would be able to see Shadow before Shadow could get nearer than the foot of that tree. Had it not been for this he wouldn't have sat there so long for rest.

Sammy Jay came along just about the time that Chatterer was beginning to feel thoroughly rested. "Hello, Chatterer!" exclaimed Sammy Jay. "Aren't you lost away over here?"

"Now Sammy Jay and Chatterer the Red Squirrel are not the very best of friends. Usually when they meet they quarrel. They say mean things to one another. But Sammy Jay had spoken pleasantly this time. You see, Chatterer was so far from his usual places that it took Sammy by surprise, and somehow Sammy had a friendly feeling. It was the same way with Chatterer.

"No, Sammy, I'm not lost," said Chatterer. "I think I'll go home."

"Shadow the Weasel," replied Chatterer. "He was after me once more. I guess he must have given up. But it has made me terribly nervous. One never knows when that fellow may take it into his head to pick up a trail again."

"Then break the trail," said Sammy. "That's easy for you to say, Sammy," retorted. "You fellows who have wings don't leave any trail any way. And if you did it would be very easy enough to break. But we fellows who haven't wings don't find it so easy to break a trail. But I'm longer," replied Chatterer, "and then I'll show you how I'm going to break that trail."

So Chatterer rested a little while while longer. Then he ran down that tree to the edge of the water. To such a little fellow the farther shore looked a long, long way off. Chatterer took a long look. Then he waded in and began to swim. Sammy Jay's eyes popped out with surprise.

"You don't mean to say you're going to swim across that pond?" cried Sammy.

Chatterer made no reply. He was too busy. It is no time to talk when you are swimming. He kept his little legs going, paddling, paddling as fast as he could. He kept his eyes fixed on a certain tall pine on the other side. He was sure now that Shadow the Weasel might not object to a squirrel dinner. Every time he caught a glimpse of the end of a stick breaking the surface of the water he thought it was the head of Billy Mink. Chatterer didn't enjoy that swim. No, sir, he didn't enjoy it one bit.

GEMS STILL MISSING. HEINZ RETURNS HOME

With jewels worth $120,000, which were stolen from his suite in an Atlantic City hotel Sunday, still missing, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Heinz returned to their home here Wednesday night, it was learned Thursday. The well-known Atlanta financier and business man and his wife were to have returned from an extended trip through the east Monday, but were delayed by the theft of the jewelry.

Mr. Heinz had nothing to add to the accounts of the theft already received here, stating that press accounts seemed accurate on the general aspects of the case and confirming the figures of the worth of the gems.

At the time that Mr. Heinz left Atlantic City police and New York detectives still were holding William Sears, a negro waiter in the hotel, on suspicion. Officers for the past two days have been searching every possible hiding place in the big hotel and about its grounds on the theory that the loot is concealed in or near the hostelry. Mr. Heinz was of the opinion that Sears is guilty of the theft or at least had some knowledge of the affair. Suspicion rests on Sears because he served breakfast to Mr. Heinz in the suite a short time before the theft was discovered and Mr. Heinz said that the waiter might easily have been in a position to take the gems during the time he was in the rooms. He also explained that sufficient time elapsed before the theft was discovered to enable him to secrete the loot if he did commit the crime.

NEGRO UNION SINGERS IN CONVENTION HERE

The annual convention of the Colored State Union Singers is in session at the Mount Vernon church here and will continue to meet until August 12, it was announced Thursday by P. L. Stargill, secretary of the association. A. G. Taylor is president of the group.

Assurance of his support toward reorganization of state departments with a view to economy, and his approval of four child welfare bills which failed to pass the legislature last summer was given Thursday by C. D. McCorkle, official court reporter, and candidate for representative from Fulton county, in answering a questionaire sent him by the Georgia League of Women Voters.

Mr. McCorkle expressed himself in favor of modernization of the state government, revision of tax laws from the standpoint of impartial application, and legislative reform to relieve senate and house of representative calendars of matters of strictly local interest to the state.

In answer to a query if he would support a bill to raise the age of consent from 14 to 18 years, Mr. McCorkle said that his experience in superior courts had convinced him that such a move would be unwise, and would foster delinquency among girls, since the law would remove from them responsibility for their acts.

Savannah and Albany Dropped From Southeastern League

Six Club Loop Will Continue In Operation

Two Teams Will Continue Play Through Sunday, August 11.

Columbus, Ga., August 9.—(AP)—Savannah and Albany, Ga., were dropped from the Southeastern league by the board of directors of the circuit here today, and a decision reached to continue the organization with six teams. The Savannah and Albany clubs will continue to play through the games of Sunday, August 11, when they will be disbanded.

A committee chosen by the directors tonight was working on a new schedule to continue the league through September 8, the regular closing date. All games played by the Albany and Savannah teams will count in the championship standing, the directors announced, and added that the six remaining clubs would play the same number of games as under the original schedule.

In announcing that the two clubs had been dropped, Cliff Green, president of the league, said the Savannah club had defaulted and surrendered its franchise to the league, and that Albany was chosen as the other club to drop out because attendance in the south Georgia city had been the smallest of any in the circuit.

Mr. Green said that the Albany club, which was in third place in the second half pennant chase, was not dropped without a protest, as its owners wanted to finish the season. The Savannah club had been in financial difficulties before this season, the Junior Chamber of Commerce raising funds to prolong professional baseball for the city several weeks ago, but recently decided to turn the franchise over to the league. Efforts of Mr. Green to interest prospective purchasers in the club early this week proved fruitless and he announced that two clubs would be dropped from the circuit.

Anita Peabody In Retirement

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., August 9.—(AP)—Anita Peabody, 3-year-old filly, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz, and leading money winner of 1927, has been retired, her owner announced today.

The horse, a stablemate of Reich Count, was rated the best 2-year-old filly last year. She captured the Belmont futurity in that year. The filly's record shows that she started seven times in 1927 and won six of the races, and finished third in the other. Her winnings for the year total $111,905. Among her stake victories were the Belmont futurity, $50,000; the Debutante stakes, Churchill Downs, $7,700; the Tomboy handicap, Belmont, $4,175; and the Joliet stakes, Lincoln field, $3,240.

Anita Peabody is a daughter of Luke McLuke, sire, and La Dauphine, dam.

Golden Cops Tourney. Hawthorth, N. J., August 9.—(AP)—For the second year in succession, Johnny Golden, of the North Jersey Country club, won the New Jersey state open golf championship today. His total for the 72 holes was 276, only two strokes above the American record, made by Emmett French in winning the Ohio state open at Youngstown, in 1924.

The SPORTLIGHT

THE OLD IDOLS DIE SLOWLY
They miss the unleashed tiger, "Tiger Jack," They'd pay to see you even hobble back. They can't forget your flame across the ring. They miss your weaving, crashing credo. That brought the giant tumbling at Toledo. They crave the mauling tiger who could bring Ten rounds of action in a minute's span— They can't forget you and that wild bull man. They miss your quite unstudied action, Jack. Those reflex symphonies you used to play in putting every victim on his back; They miss the unleashed tiger, "Tiger Jack!"

Mr. Tex Rickard lost his $1,000
When the fans lost their "Tiger Jack."
HARCOURT STRANGE.

"What Mr. Rickard wants," says an exchange, "is another Dempsey." And what Mr. Rockefeller can always use is another old field.

Easy To Figure.

The unpopularity of American entries in the Olympic games is simple enough to understand.

In the first place, the United States has won every Olympic meet since the modern program was put on. In the second place, the United States has been able to place the largest teams in the field, having more money to spend on expenses than any other nation.

All other things being equal no one is going to keep winning championships and remain eternally popular with the defeated.

Again, the United States has often won more by the preponderance of numbers than by comparative ability.

In 1924, as I recall the hazy statistics, the United States won 12 firsts and Finland won 11 firsts. The United States had over 75 entries and the Finland had less than 20. The United States had 110,000,000 people to draw from—Finland less than 5,000,000. Naturally all outsiders were pulling for Finland.

Another Angle.

I recall in 1924 at Paris the popular European belief seemed to be that we were a nation of gymnasts, and they had the athletes.

That belief was advanced on numerous occasions. We won the field events, such as the pole vault, shotput, high jump, etc., but were helpless on the track from the shortest sprint to the marathon.

And of course the track events are the feature of any big set of games. There is far more color, excitement, action and interest in a running race than there is in a shotput or a broad jump or a discus throw.

And where the general interest of the crowd was keenest there the United States contenders crashed with a detonating flop.

Things were to have been much different this year, with the strongest track team the United States had ever assembled.

But United States runners were again outclassed in the main, for one simple reason—the others were better. Young Williams, the Canadian, is a better sprinter than Wykoff, Borah or any other short distance star we have. He is a better sprinter because he can run faster—especially in a pinch.

There hasn't been a half-miler in this country as good as Douglas Love in many years. There isn't a mile in the same class with Larva or Nurni. No stili is needed in the way of food or training. "The race may not be to the swift—but that is where to look."

Most of our stars are over-hyped, at the expense of others who are just as good—often better—but who lack the accompanying bravos and hurrahs and headlines and hullabaloo.

Young Williams, of Canada, is far and away the best sprinter in the world, and yet few in the United States had ever heard of him. The pen is mightier than the running shoe or the stop watch. Williams had everything but the bellyhoo to back him up when he started abroad. With the

Henri Cochet Is Dangerous Tennis Player

Practice of Taking Ball on Rising Bounce Makes Him So, Says Vinnie.

BY VINCENT RICHARDS.
American Professional Tennis Champion.

(Copyright, 1928, by the American Newspaper Alliance.)
One hears much about the "money player" in sports. An athlete who does his best in a crisis is generally called a money player.

An outstanding example this year is Walter Hagen. His defeat by Archie Compston, and then his marvelous victory in the British open here, later shows the fighting blood Sir Walter has.

Until professionalism came to the tennis ranks there was no money player in the game. Usually they were called match players. Naturally the same attributes belong to the match player as to the money player. The qualities are generally courage, coolness under fire, resourcefulness and ingenuity. A tennis champion who came up from the ranks had to have these qualities or he didn't last long in fast company.

Money Players.
For years Tilden and Johnston were known as money players. Then came Lacoste and Cochet with their subtle French style and extraordinary ability to employ the right tactics at the right time. Cochet even went a bit further and took the ball on the rising bounce, which to my mind makes him the most dangerous player in the world.

For sheer brilliance and ingenuity on the courts, however, there are few players who can approach what Norman F. Brooks did in his hey-day. The famous Australian was forever trying something new, and although he never weighed more than 135 pounds, he was capable of holding his own with the hard hitters.

Brooke's ability to anticipate was always a mystery to me. No matter what you hit, he was the former world's titleholder was either Johnny-on-the-spot or already on his way to "court sense."

Professional Teachers.
We hear much these days about this or that player being the product of a professional teacher. Critics even go so far as to say that some of the best players are what might be called professionally-taught players.

Without doubt Darsonval, the great French professional teacher, and with the formation of Lacoste's ground strokes. The sad-faced French titleholder hits the ball as Darsonval does.

But no one ever taught Lacoste the tactics he uses in match play. Either these are the result of hard study or the famous Australian was born with a gift from the gods.

His mixing of short and long drives last year at Philadelphia was a revelation to me. On the other hand, give Henri Cochet a day when he is going at top speed and he doesn't have to worry much about tactics.

FINALS TODAY FOR JUNIOR GOLF TOURNEY

Chicago, August 9.—(AP)—Richard Mullin, of Chicago, and Tom Cooley, of Evanston, Ill., will decide which one is to be the 1928 junior golf champion in the 36-hole final tomorrow at the Glenview club.

Mullin won both his matches today by the wide margin of 6 and 5, while Cooley won comfortably by slightly smaller margins and with not such good golf.

The Chicagoan, who was medalist in the qualifying round with 73, one above par, and tallied 75 and 76 in his first two match rounds, played within four strokes of par in his two rounds today. In the morning, he defeated Bob Crowe, of Chicago, gaining a four-hole lead on the first nine. Mullin did not play quite so well in the afternoon but again had to play only four holes to the ward and then defeated Bob Stewart, another Chicagoan. He managed to stymie his opponents four times in the two rounds, winning three of them. Mullin is but 17 years old.

Cooley, a 19-year-old freshman of Northwestern university, kept close to par most of the way to defeat Paul Jackson, of Kansas City, and 2, and his morning's victory of 4 and 2 over Jack Conch, of Chicago. Cooley, who qualified with an 80, has eliminated Art Collar, of South Bend, Ind., 5 and 3, and Gibson Dunlap, Chicago, 2 and 1, in addition to his victories today. His average medal score has been considerably higher than that of Mullin.

Leo Mackey Is Made Charlotte Manager

Charlotte, N. C., August 9.—(AP)—Leo Mackey, veteran Southern league catcher, will succeed Heinie Groh as manager of the Charlotte club, of the South Atlantic league, and will report tomorrow.

Mackey was bought outright from the Nashville club. He had been loaned to the Waterbury club, of the Eastern league, and remained on the line for only a few days, going to his home at Grafton, Pa., near Pittsburgh. Groh gave up leadership of the Hornets a week ago and the Hood, second sacker, has been since acting in this capacity.

George Lewis Beaten In Asheville Meet

Asheville, N. C., August 9.—(AP)—James Richardson, of Asheville, is today qualified for the finals in the men's singles of the annual Carolina tennis tournament when he defeated George H. Lewis, of Asheville, Ga., on the courts of the Biltmore Forest Country club in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. Rein prevented the other semi-final singles match and all doubles play.

In the remaining semi-final encounter, John Temple Graves, Jacksonville, Fla., tomorrow will meet Maurice Baron, New Orleans, La., present titleholder. Women's singles and doubles also will be started tomorrow.

New Boss.
Hardin Herndon succeeded Art Bourg as manager of the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league. Herndon last year managed the Columbus club.

Mrs. Bundy Is Defeated By H. Jacobs

Helen Willis Wins Match in 20 Minutes in Maidstone Tournament.

East Hampton, N. Y., August 9.—(AP)—Youth added another victory to a long list of triumphs over age today when 19-year-old Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., fourth in the national women's ranking, defeated Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, of Santa Monica, winner of the national championship in 1904, before Miss Jacobs was born.

The latter's victory came in the quarter final round of the annual invitation tennis tournament of the Maidstone Country club here, 6-2, 6-3. Mrs. Bundy's exhausting match with Edith Cross yesterday took its toll today. She was not so aggressive against the younger Californian.

She handled Miss Jacobs' smashing service well, breaking through it several times, but made errors at critical points. The only time Mrs. Bundy was ahead was in the second set when she broke enabled her to lead at 2-1. Miss Jacobs quickly evened the count and finished the match without being seriously threatened.

HAWKEYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

There Will Be Five Games.

If there happens to be a playoff for the pennant in the Southern league this year—which is presupposing that Atlanta or some other team than Birmingham wins the second half of the schedule—there will be a FIVE-GAME series to determine a winner. That is to say, one team must win three games before the pennant winner is selected.

In the expression of that one fact, we do take issue with our friendly enemy, Mr. Edwin Friend Danforth. In so far as the balance of his tirade against a short series is concerned we are forced to agree, even though sports writers on opposition papers are never supposed to agree.

If Mr. John D. Martin had given Friend Danforth the correct information his tirade would have been all to the good but the minutes of the meeting when the split season was decided upon show plainly that, "in case of a playoff for the pennant as many games shall be played as are found necessary for one team to win THREE games."

Mr. Martin was wrong, according to the minutes of the meeting, but even at that the series of five games is too short for such an issue. In every series of five games there is always the virtual certainty that at least two games will be decided by the freaks of luck we choose to call "breaks." Seven games should be played in any series deciding a league winner. Or to be more exact one team should be required to win four games.

Yesterday we accused Colonel Rell Jackson Spiller of having missed a bet—he and the rest of the club owners—when the post-season series was set at three games. Whereupon Colonel Spiller arose upon his very capable hind legs and allowed as how we were all wet and it wasn't raining. The result was that we were given an opportunity to read those minutes referred to above and discovered that President John D. Martin was off on the wrong foot.

The matter resolved itself into a general argument between Colonel Spiller, Guy Butler and one or two others around the group. After everything had been settled satisfactorily it suddenly occurred to somebody that all this argument is rather previous. The Crackers must win the second half or all the words will be wasted. There's a thought.

ONE FOREIGN PLAYER LEFT IN TOURNEY

Southampton, N. Y., August 9.—(AP) Harry O. Hopman, of Australia, was the only one of the foreign players left in the singles at the end of play today in the invitation tournament of the Meadow club, Jack Wright, of the doubles, George Loft, Chicago, and John Doe, Santa Monica, Calif., won two matches, the first from P. Kong and Gordon Lum, China, 6-2, 6-4, and the other from Louis Thalheimer and James Quick, of Dallas, Texas, 11-9, 6-2; Howard Voell, New York, and Jack Wright, Montreal, won from Samuel Gilpin and Joseph Olhausen, Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, and then defeated the Mexican team of Ricardo Tapia and Jose Liano.

Nixie Is Victor In 'Bama Stakes

New York, August 9.—(AP)—Nixie, carrying 121 pounds, swept to impressive victory in the Alabama stakes today, at Saratoga today. The Wheatley stable's crack entry was held off 9 to 5 in the setting and ran the ten furlongs in 2:10 2/5 to win, while the favorite, Valkyr, was second, and Darkness third and last.

Valkyr lost its length at the start, but had lots of early speed and raced into the lead. Nixie came fast in the stretch, however, and won going away by a neck. Darkness was eight lengths back of the leaders.

Paying $40.42 for $2, R. C. Winmill's Wonderful, won the fourth and feature race at Hawthorne, a mile and 70-yard dash for 3-year-olds. Wonderful trailed until the final 10th, where he got up to win, driving by a length. Old Times took the place by a half a length from Mop Up. The time was 1:44 3/5. In the third race, Nellie C8 won, $62.48 to win, and the longest shot of the day, however, came at Bainbridge, where Spon-taneous, winning the seventh race, paid $81.40 for $2.

G. E. Nine Loses At LaGrange, 11-6

LaGrange, Ga., August 9.—Hillside Mills, of LaGrange, chalked up its sixteenth consecutive victory here this afternoon by defeating the General Electric nine of Atlanta, 11 to 6, in a free hitting contest. Frank Wadley, Tech, star, led the attack against the visitors with a home run, two singles and two walks in five times at bat. Warner Mizell, another Tech star, aided the locals to a victory by hitting three times in five times at bat. Jack Finney also got three hits for the locals.

Applying with three hits led in hitting for the visitors, Dodgen, visiting first baseman, hit for the circuit in the eighth with a runner on base.

Sandlot Teams In Regional Tourney Here

Baseball Champions of Five States To Compete in Meet Next Week.

It may be just possible that some day in the not too far distant future Atlanta baseball fans, on glancing at some major league box score, may have occasion to say, "Why I saw that bird when he played on a sand lot team in the regional championship in Atlanta." For the fact remains that all big league stars were at some time kids and it is another fact that on next Tuesday and Wednesday the best kid baseball players in the sovereign states of Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi will gather at Spiller field to decide which outfit will make the trip to Louisville as the winner from this region.

As already known, the winner from the state of Georgia is the strong Lindale team, which romped to the state championship a short time ago at Macon. Besides the Lindale team there will be the championship outfits from the other three states mentioned. These teams will compete in an elimination tournament which calls for a double-header on Tuesday, the first game starting at 1:30 o'clock, and the final encounter Wednesday afternoon.

Nation-wide interest is attached to these games, which are held under the auspices of the American Legion and which have the full and hearty support of the two major leagues. That much importance is attached to the games that will be played at Spiller field can be seen from the fact that the powers-that-are are trying to secure two Southern league umpires to officiate.

These kids play real baseball and the prospect of a trip to Louisville will no doubt bring their play up to an even higher standard than usual. Should one of the southern teams go through at Louisville it would have the honor of representing the east against the west in the "world series" to be staged at Chicago.

Scrappy O'Sullivan, who is the main cog in the regional meet that will be staged here under the auspices of American Legion post No. 1, is highly optimistic over the outlook for a large attendance and for some exceedingly fast baseball. The admission will be 50 cents each day.

The age limit rule for the competition allows any boy to play whose seventeenth birthday falls after December 31, 1928.

As this age limit allows players to compete who have gathered considerable experience on sand lot fields, the play should be decidedly good.

The Day in Finance

By
R. L. BARNUM

BY R. L. BARNUM.

New York, August 9.—Trading in stocks today was quiet, but with the price movement irregular, awaiting developments in the money market, the weekly brokers' loans statement, action of the federal reserve bank here on the discount rate, the quarterly General Motors meeting.

Call money opened at 7 per cent against yesterday's renewal rate of 6-1/2 and 6 earlier in the week. Brokers' loans were 1-1/4 per cent, the lowest for all periods with the offerings very small. This is the highest rate for time money since 1921 or the end of the post war inflation period.

Much interest was displayed by Wall Street in the cotton market where all and more of yesterday's gain on the unexpectedly low government crop figures was lost. The feeling here is that with the indicated crop of 14,200,000 against 15,000,000 generally expected there will be enough cotton to go around with a carry over from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 bales from last year's crop of 12,555,000 bales.

Strong Back on Job.

Returning from a long trip abroad last Tuesday, Mark Strong, of the federal reserve bank here, took part of the weekly meeting of the New York Federal Reserve bank officials. Since the return of Strong to his post abroad earlier in the week there has been heavy calling of loans by the banks here, around $80,000,000 including today; the demand has been wide spread rumors of a further advance in the discount rate.

Southern Pacific declared its regular dividend. There has not been much talk recently of an increase in Southern Pacific's rate from 6 per cent to 7. The dividend has been paid for the past 20 years and in the meantime the company has spent a very large sum of money for improvements and betterments and added to its already very large accumulated surplus. Southern Pacific could increase its dividend rate at any time the directors decided to take such action.

Some usually well informed Wall Street people believed a month ago that if progress was made in liquidating brokers' loans largely through the marketing of unsold new securities.

Everybody's Business

"If the business men find money rates high throughout the country they shouldn't be surprised to find that a Wall Street banker protested to me yesterday. 'Rather, let them turn their attention to the fact that the country is a billion dollars over last year, which are used for nothing but speculative purposes on the New York Stock exchange.' 'There is a contest on between the speculators on the Stock exchange and the New York banks. The banks have comparatively small amounts of money on call. In fact it is about one-fifth of the total amount in brokers' loans. The out-of-town bank loans on call are about $750,000,000. So are the now famous 'bootleg' loan accounts.

"The brokers' loans in which are tied up the billions that should be used at this time to carry on the nation's legitimate business are purely speculative. The money is not increasing the wealth or the credit of the country a single dime.

"Tie up this fact to another one—$800,000,000 in actual gold left our country during the year—and one finds why money is higher.

"I don't see how money will become cheaper until the country itself has decided adjust themselves better to the legitimate credit needs of the nation."

"When the federal reserve banks begin to buy securities in the open market it will be the first time the federal reserve believes its authority in the credit structure of the country has been restored," says one student of the federal reserve.

No one well versed in federal reserve policy can doubt that the $800,000,000 in gold actually left our country during the last year represents a permanent redistribution, to enable the federal reserve system to be dominant and enforce its decrees. Until this has been accomplished no let down in the rate of interest can be expected.

Research in business has become a necessity. Many of the leading industries have organized their own research divisions often presided over by nationally known men.

The rubber industry, organized recently by the rubber interests of America, is headed by General Lincoln C. Andrews. The cotton interests of America a couple of years ago organized the cotton textile institute. The head is Walter B. Hines, railroad administrator during the war.

The oil industry for a good many years has had a research department among its activities in the American Petroleum institute.

The manufacturers of rayon have their research organization, and the meat packers have the meat institute. The iron and steel industry for years has a research department of information and research called the Iron and Steel institute. There, business connected with the iron and steel business is freely discussed.

This cooperative spirit in each industry is growing rapidly.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railway, says: "Canada has never known such activity in mining as the last year. We expect rapid progress from now on, particularly in gold, copper, lead, zinc, and nickel mining.

"Canada's three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—have a total wheat planting this year of 23,557,000 acres. This is an increase of nearly 10 per cent over last year. The crop is especially heavy, and the cut of wheat will be within the next few days."

During the first six months of 1928 the Canadian National railways' gross income was $121,513,000, as against $114,457,000 for the same period last year. The net income was $19,750,000 as against $15,889,000 for the same period in 1927.

There are approximately two hundred class A railroads in the United States. They are the class A railroads because they have earnings of $1,000,000 a year or more.

For 1927, class A railroads moved 35,000,000 tons of cargo. What was in these cars? If we consider all mining, including coal and oil, it lands easily first on the list. The figures for the 'big five' follow:

petroleum 14,000,000 cars
Manufactures 11,000,000 cars
Agriculture 4,500,000 cars
Forest products 3,500,000 cars
Animal products 2,000,000 cars

Stock Market Awaits Developments in Money Market and Further Action on Reducement of Federal Reserve Bank's Discount Rate

"Canada's three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—have a total wheat planting this year of 23,557,000 acres. This is an increase of nearly 10 per cent over last year. The crop is especially heavy, and the cut of wheat will be within the next few days."

During the first six months of 1928 the Canadian National railways' gross income was $121,513,000, as against $114,457,000 for the same period last year. The net income was $19,750,000 as against $15,889,000 for the same period in 1927.

There are approximately two hundred class A railroads in the United States. They are the class A railroads because they have earnings of $1,000,000 a year or more.

For 1927, class A railroads moved 35,000,000 tons of cargo. What was in these cars? If we consider all mining, including coal and oil, it lands easily first on the list. The figures for the 'big five' follow:

petroleum 14,000,000 cars
Manufactures 11,000,000 cars
Agriculture 4,500,000 cars
Forest products 3,500,000 cars
Animal products 2,000,000 cars

AUTOMOTIVE

By
R. L. BARNUM

New York, August 9.—Trading in stocks today was quiet, but with the price movement irregular, awaiting developments in the money market, the weekly brokers' loans statement, action of the federal reserve bank here on the discount rate, the quarterly General Motors meeting.

Call money opened at 7 per cent against yesterday's renewal rate of 6-1/2 and 6 earlier in the week. Brokers' loans were 1-1/4 per cent, the lowest for all periods with the offerings very small. This is the highest rate for time money since 1921 or the end of the post war inflation period.

Much interest was displayed by Wall Street in the cotton market where all and more of yesterday's gain on the unexpectedly low government crop figures was lost. The feeling here is that with the indicated crop of 14,200,000 against 15,000,000 generally expected there will be enough cotton to go around with a carry over from 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 bales from last year's crop of 12,555,000 bales.

Strong Back on Job.

Returning from a long trip abroad last Tuesday, Mark Strong, of the federal reserve bank here, took part of the weekly meeting of the New York Federal Reserve bank officials. Since the return of Strong to his post abroad earlier in the week there has been heavy calling of loans by the banks here, around $80,000,000 including today; the demand has been wide spread rumors of a further advance in the discount rate.

Southern Pacific declared its regular dividend. There has not been much talk recently of an increase in Southern Pacific's rate from 6 per cent to 7. The dividend has been paid for the past 20 years and in the meantime the company has spent a very large sum of money for improvements and betterments and added to its already very large accumulated surplus. Southern Pacific could increase its dividend rate at any time the directors decided to take such action.

Some usually well informed Wall Street people believed a month ago that if progress was made in liquidating brokers' loans largely through the marketing of unsold new securities.

Everybody's Business

By
JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

"If the business men find money rates high throughout the country they shouldn't be surprised to find that a Wall Street banker protested to me yesterday. 'Rather, let them turn their attention to the fact that the country is a billion dollars over last year, which are used for nothing but speculative purposes on the New York Stock exchange.' 'There is a contest on between the speculators on the Stock exchange and the New York banks. The banks have comparatively small amounts of money on call. In fact it is about one-fifth of the total amount in brokers' loans. The out-of-town bank loans on call are about $750,000,000. So are the now famous 'bootleg' loan accounts.

"The brokers' loans in which are tied up the billions that should be used at this time to carry on the nation's legitimate business are purely speculative. The money is not increasing the wealth or the credit of the country a single dime.

"Tie up this fact to another one—$800,000,000 in actual gold left our country during the year—and one finds why money is higher.

"I don't see how money will become cheaper until the country itself has decided adjust themselves better to the legitimate credit needs of the nation."

"When the federal reserve banks begin to buy securities in the open market it will be the first time the federal reserve believes its authority in the credit structure of the country has been restored," says one student of the federal reserve.

No one well versed in federal reserve policy can doubt that the $800,000,000 in gold actually left our country during the last year represents a permanent redistribution, to enable the federal reserve system to be dominant and enforce its decrees. Until this has been accomplished no let down in the rate of interest can be expected.

Research in business has become a necessity. Many of the leading industries have organized their own research divisions often presided over by nationally known men.

The rubber industry, organized recently by the rubber interests of America, is headed by General Lincoln C. Andrews. The cotton interests of America a couple of years ago organized the cotton textile institute. The head is Walter B. Hines, railroad administrator during the war.

The oil industry for a good many years has had a research department among its activities in the American Petroleum institute.

The manufacturers of rayon have their research organization, and the meat packers have the meat institute. The iron and steel industry for years has a research department of information and research called the Iron and Steel institute. There, business connected with the iron and steel business is freely discussed.

This cooperative spirit in each industry is growing rapidly.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railway, says: "Canada has never known such activity in mining as the last year. We expect rapid progress from now on, particularly in gold, copper, lead, zinc, and nickel mining.

"Canada's three prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—have a total wheat planting this year of 23,557,000 acres. This is an increase of nearly 10 per cent over last year. The crop is especially heavy, and the cut of wheat will be within the next few days."

During the first six months of 1928 the Canadian National railways' gross income was $121,513,000, as against $114,457,000 for

SITTING BULL.

WHEN NEWS OF THE ANNIHILATION OF CUSTER AND HIS MEN ON THE LITTLE BIGHORN (JUNE 25, 1876), REACHED FORT LEAVENWORTH, GENERAL NELSON MILES WAS SENT TO THE SCENE OF THE DISASTER WITH THE FIFTH INFANTRY. GEN. MILES WAS PARTICULARLY EAGER TO GATH SITTING BULL, THE LEADING SPIRIT OF THE SIOUX, AND BELIEVED THE FAMOUS CHIEF WAS NOT FAR OFF.

The Pursuit of Sitting Bull.

FOLLOWING THE TRAIL OF A BAND OF HOSTILES DOWN THE YELLOWSTONE, MILES FOUND A NOTE FROM SITTING BULL, DEMANDING THAT THE SOLDIERS GIVE UP THE CHASE.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

SITTING BULL REACHED HIS BAND, AND MILES ATTACKED THE HOSTILES VIGOROUSLY. WHEN THE SIOUX BEAT A HASTY RETREAT, MILES PRESSED THE PURSUIT SO HARD THAT THE REDSKINS COULD ESCAPE ONLY BY ABANDONING THEIR PONIES AND DISPERSING IN THE MOUNTAINS.
